Homestead High School

Cupertino, California

Evolution of a Student

The difference between a Senior and a Freshman is too complex to be measured in terms of age or maturity. It's an important difference because it shows the fantastic speed of growth that occurs in high school. "Awkward stage" — "Height of your life" — "Freedom without real responsibility," are all trite expressions that are absolutely, positively correct. The freedom to experiment, the freedom of unlimited time makes high school years one of the heights of our life, and during a period of rapid growth, socially and academically, anyone would feel a little awkward.

The bottles of wine on your cover symbolize the time that has passed and the growth that has occurred up until the time that Homestead finally reached its Platinum anniversary. Relatively, the same wine symbol can be used to describe the evolution of a student during his or her stay at Homestead.

To procure a fine wine, one must begin with a good grape. In high school, that grape is the Freshman. Understandably, as Freshman, we haven't quite found out who we are, what we want, or most importantly, where we're going to fit into the complex social structure of high school. We start to learn the ropes soon, but meanwhile, it's not surprising that we stand out a little.

After the grapes have been prepared, there is nothing to do but wait. Sophomores and Juniors are former Freshman who are undergoing the maturation process. Some vintages mature faster than others. JUNIOR (Joon'yer): 1. Younger in years 2. Third year in high school 3. Class of '84 4. Radical Sophomores 5. Almost as good as Seniors, but don't have that realization of time, that threat of extinction which makes Seniors truly elite.

Having become better with age, the wine has now hit its high point and is ready to be opened. We've finally reached Seniority. Maturity? For some of us, maybe. But after four years there is something different in all of us. As Seniors, we're "cool," we're making major decisions about our future, we feel it ("the difference"), and want to tell everybody, especially the Freshman. (More on the Senior phenomenon in "SENIORS '83: A Deepening Shadow of the Future," pg. 42)

So three simple years is not the only difference between a Freshman and a Senior, and those years are far from simple. The idea of freedom arises again: If high school is the height of life, it is so because we have the freedom for progression and growth, physically and intellectually, at a faster rate than any other time in our life. It's exciting . . . but unfortunately, it takes us a while to realize finally just how exciting it is and use trite expressions to describe it. — O.N.J.

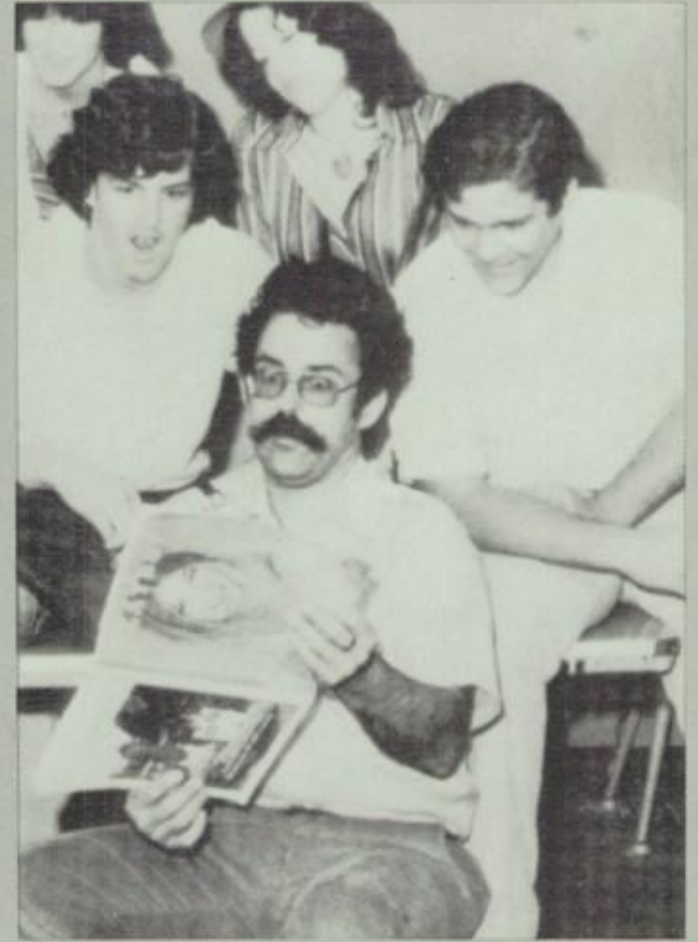

*Homestead's
20th Anniversary*

Since its inception two decades ago, Homestead High School has demonstrated consistent excellence in the three A's: academics, athletics, and activities. We can now celebrate our 20th anniversary with an enviable record.

The Pegasus staff would like to express its best wishes to the Class of 1983 and its hopes that things will become even better for the Class of 1993.

83? It was a good year!

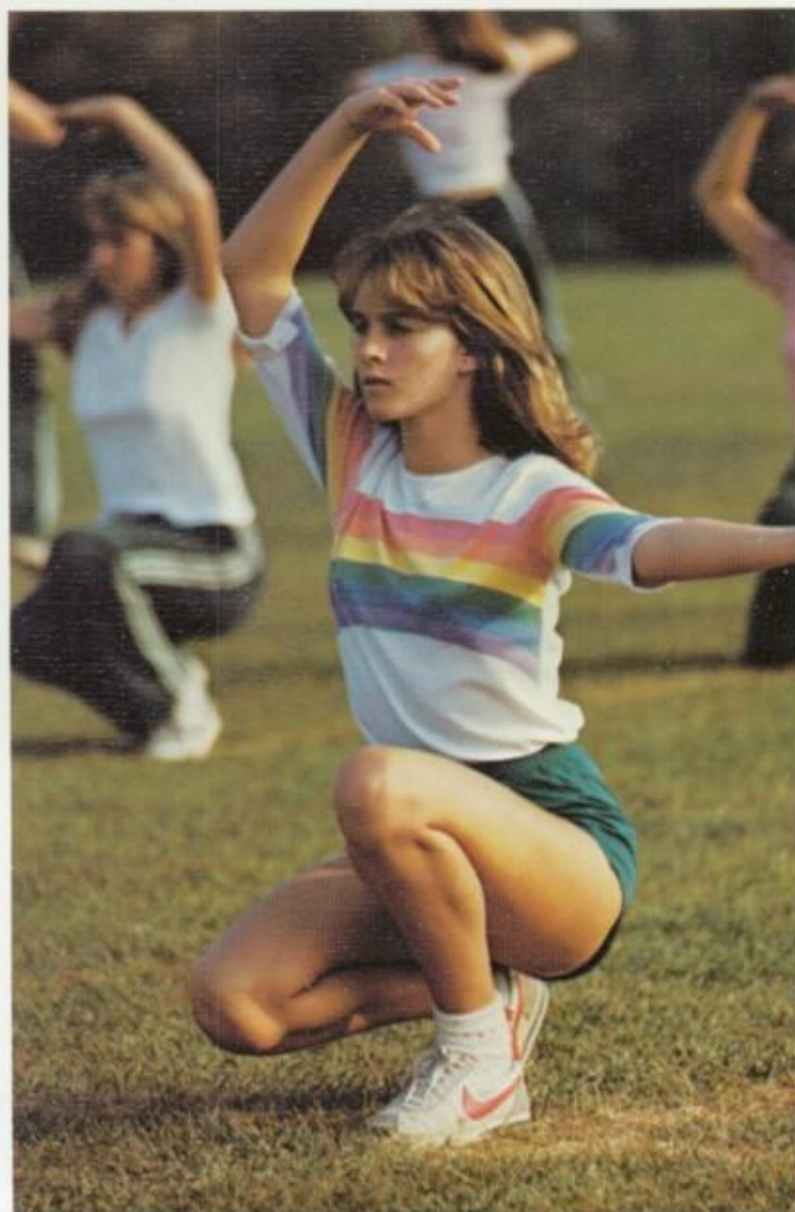

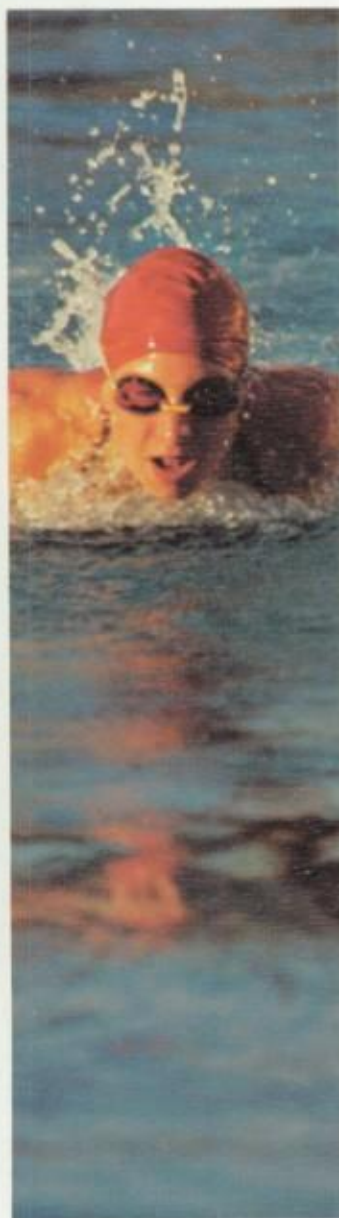

The relief of summer and the end of school's tribulations can be one of the most pleasurable feelings possible.

No more finals, no more surprise quizzes, no more late night cram-studying.

Scholastics, however, were only a small part of the life at Homestead in 1982-83.

Things were far more settled this year than last. The havoc caused by Sunnyvale High's closure had, for the most part, blown over. Those transfer students uprooted by this became far better blended into the school's social fabric following a year of transition and change. School spirit even improved slightly as a result.

Homecoming and spirit week, as usual, infused activity and excitement into an otherwise lackluster period of the school year. (Continued on page 9)

Good year (con't)

Many a fall night was spent watching the Mustang football team, with the marching band providing entertainment through their numerous antics at half-time.

Elsewhere on campus, the Epitaph continued its journalistic excellence, collecting many honors and much praise.

As winter came, many students headed for the Sierras to participate in the high school ritual of skiing.

When the snow melted, most switched their focus from the slopes to the surf. The closer summer got, the less attractive schoolwork became.

For some of us, a four-year stay at Homestead has ended, for others, it has just begun.

The memories gained by this year are, for many, well worth the pains of its schoolwork.

— A.W.

Homecoming

Homestead's 20th annual Homecoming celebration proved to be the high point of spirit for the year.

It followed the kind of high charged spirit week that Homestead hasn't seen in many years. It is logical then that the twentieth Homecoming would be one that would make the Class of '63 proud.

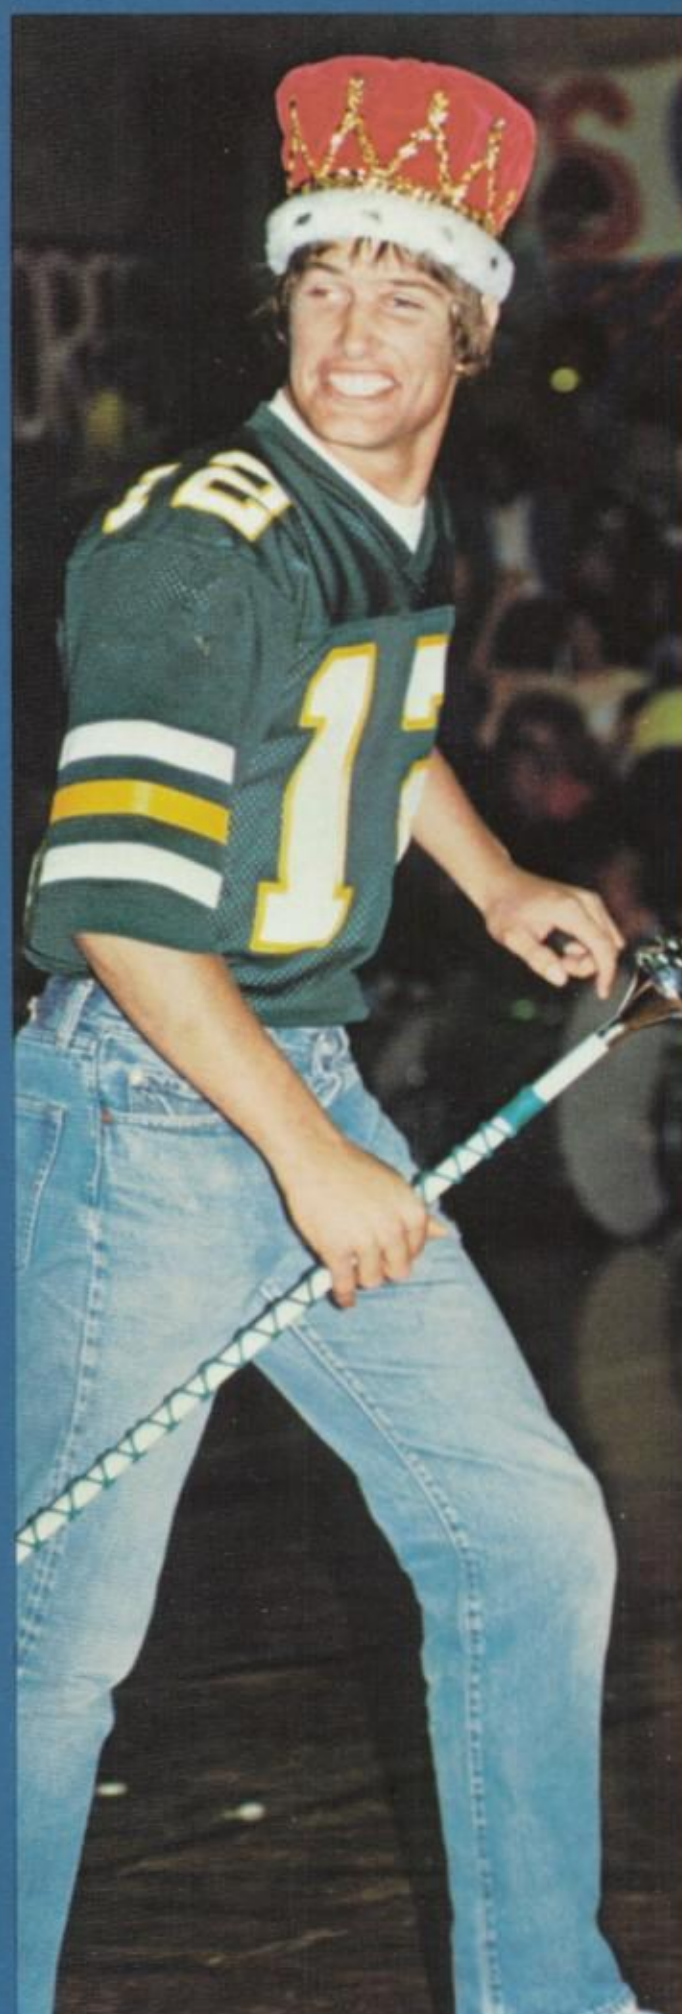

Although the Mustangs would eventually lose the game, spirit was running high at half-time and every seat was filled when the band marched out onto the field.

As the floats paraded around the track, each class cheered for their own production, especially those who worked diligently to get their class float ready for just this moment.

After the five princesses, Elizabeth Ragsdale, Lisa Welti, Elyse Weiler, Heidi Waterfield, and Tammi Matteuci, waved to the crowd while being driven in classic cars around the track, it was announced: "The winner is ..." and was ... Heidi Waterfield.

This ended Homestead's 20th, and one of the best ever Homecoming celebration.

ARE YOU A SENIOR?

This is just a simple test to help you realize what you were this year. Now keep score, one point a piece.

1. Do you feel stupid at rallies?
2. Did you stop trying after January 1983?
3. Can you sign one of your parents' names?
4. Have you ever wrecked your car?
5. Do you always arrive in class 10 minutes late?
6. Do you feel more equal to your teachers?
7. Walking down the halls, do you feel like the tall person you've always wanted to be?
8. Does Mr. Tuana know your name?

9. Have you ran out of things to write in friends yearbooks?
10. Is your favorite expression "What the hell, I'm a Senior!"?
11. Do you use your school books as writing paper?
12. Have you forgotten what Farrell's ice cream tastes like?

Now tally your points, and find out what you were this year.

0-3: FRESHMAN

7-9: PSEUDO-SENIOR

4-6: UNDERCLASSMAN

10-12: SENIOR!!

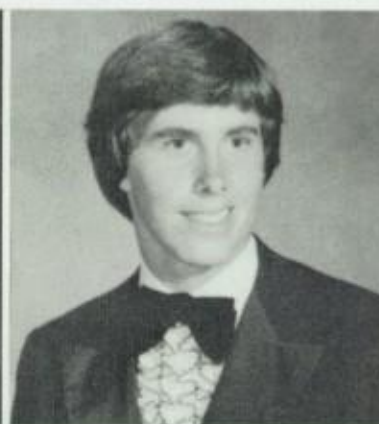

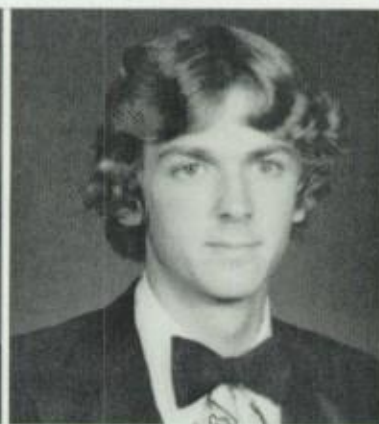

Editor's Note: If you don't care what your score is, then you're really a Senior!!

A Deepening Shadow of the Future

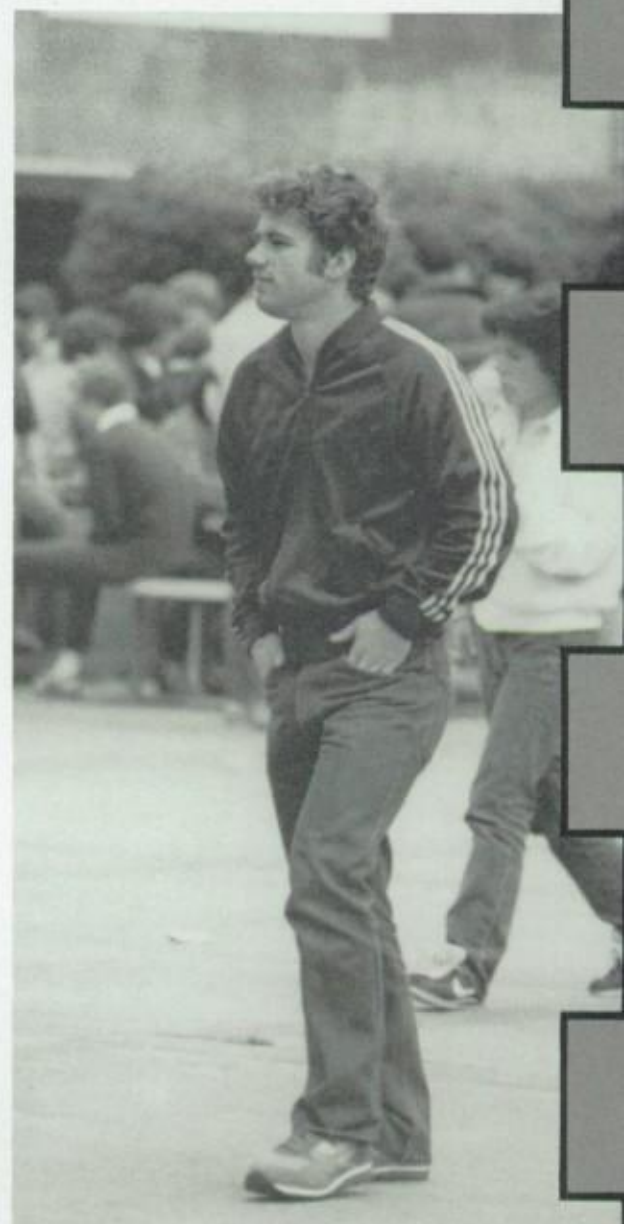

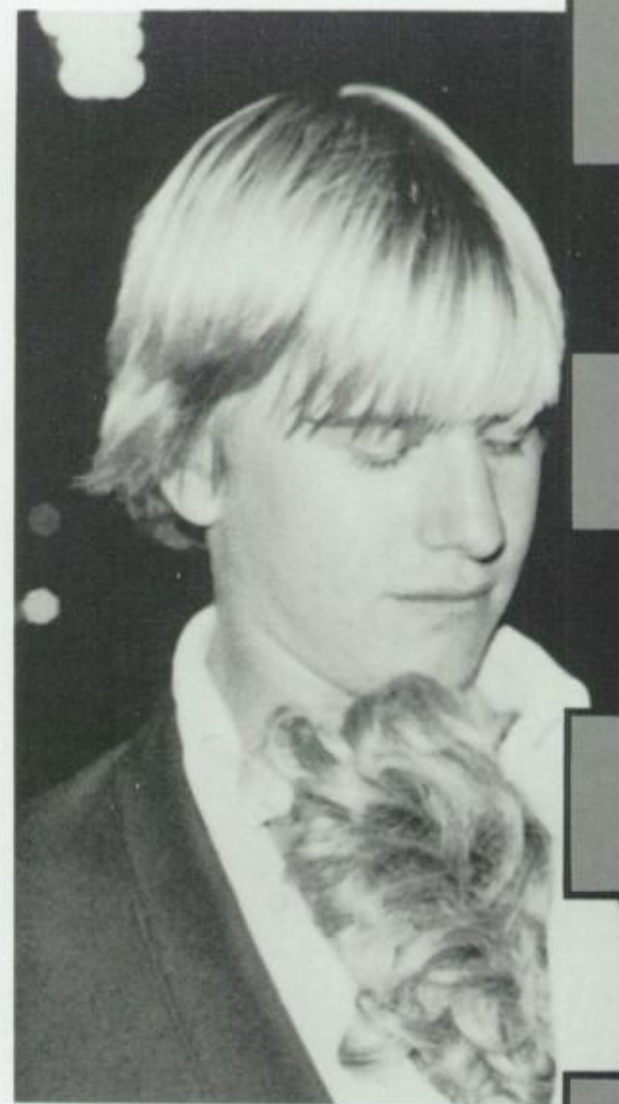

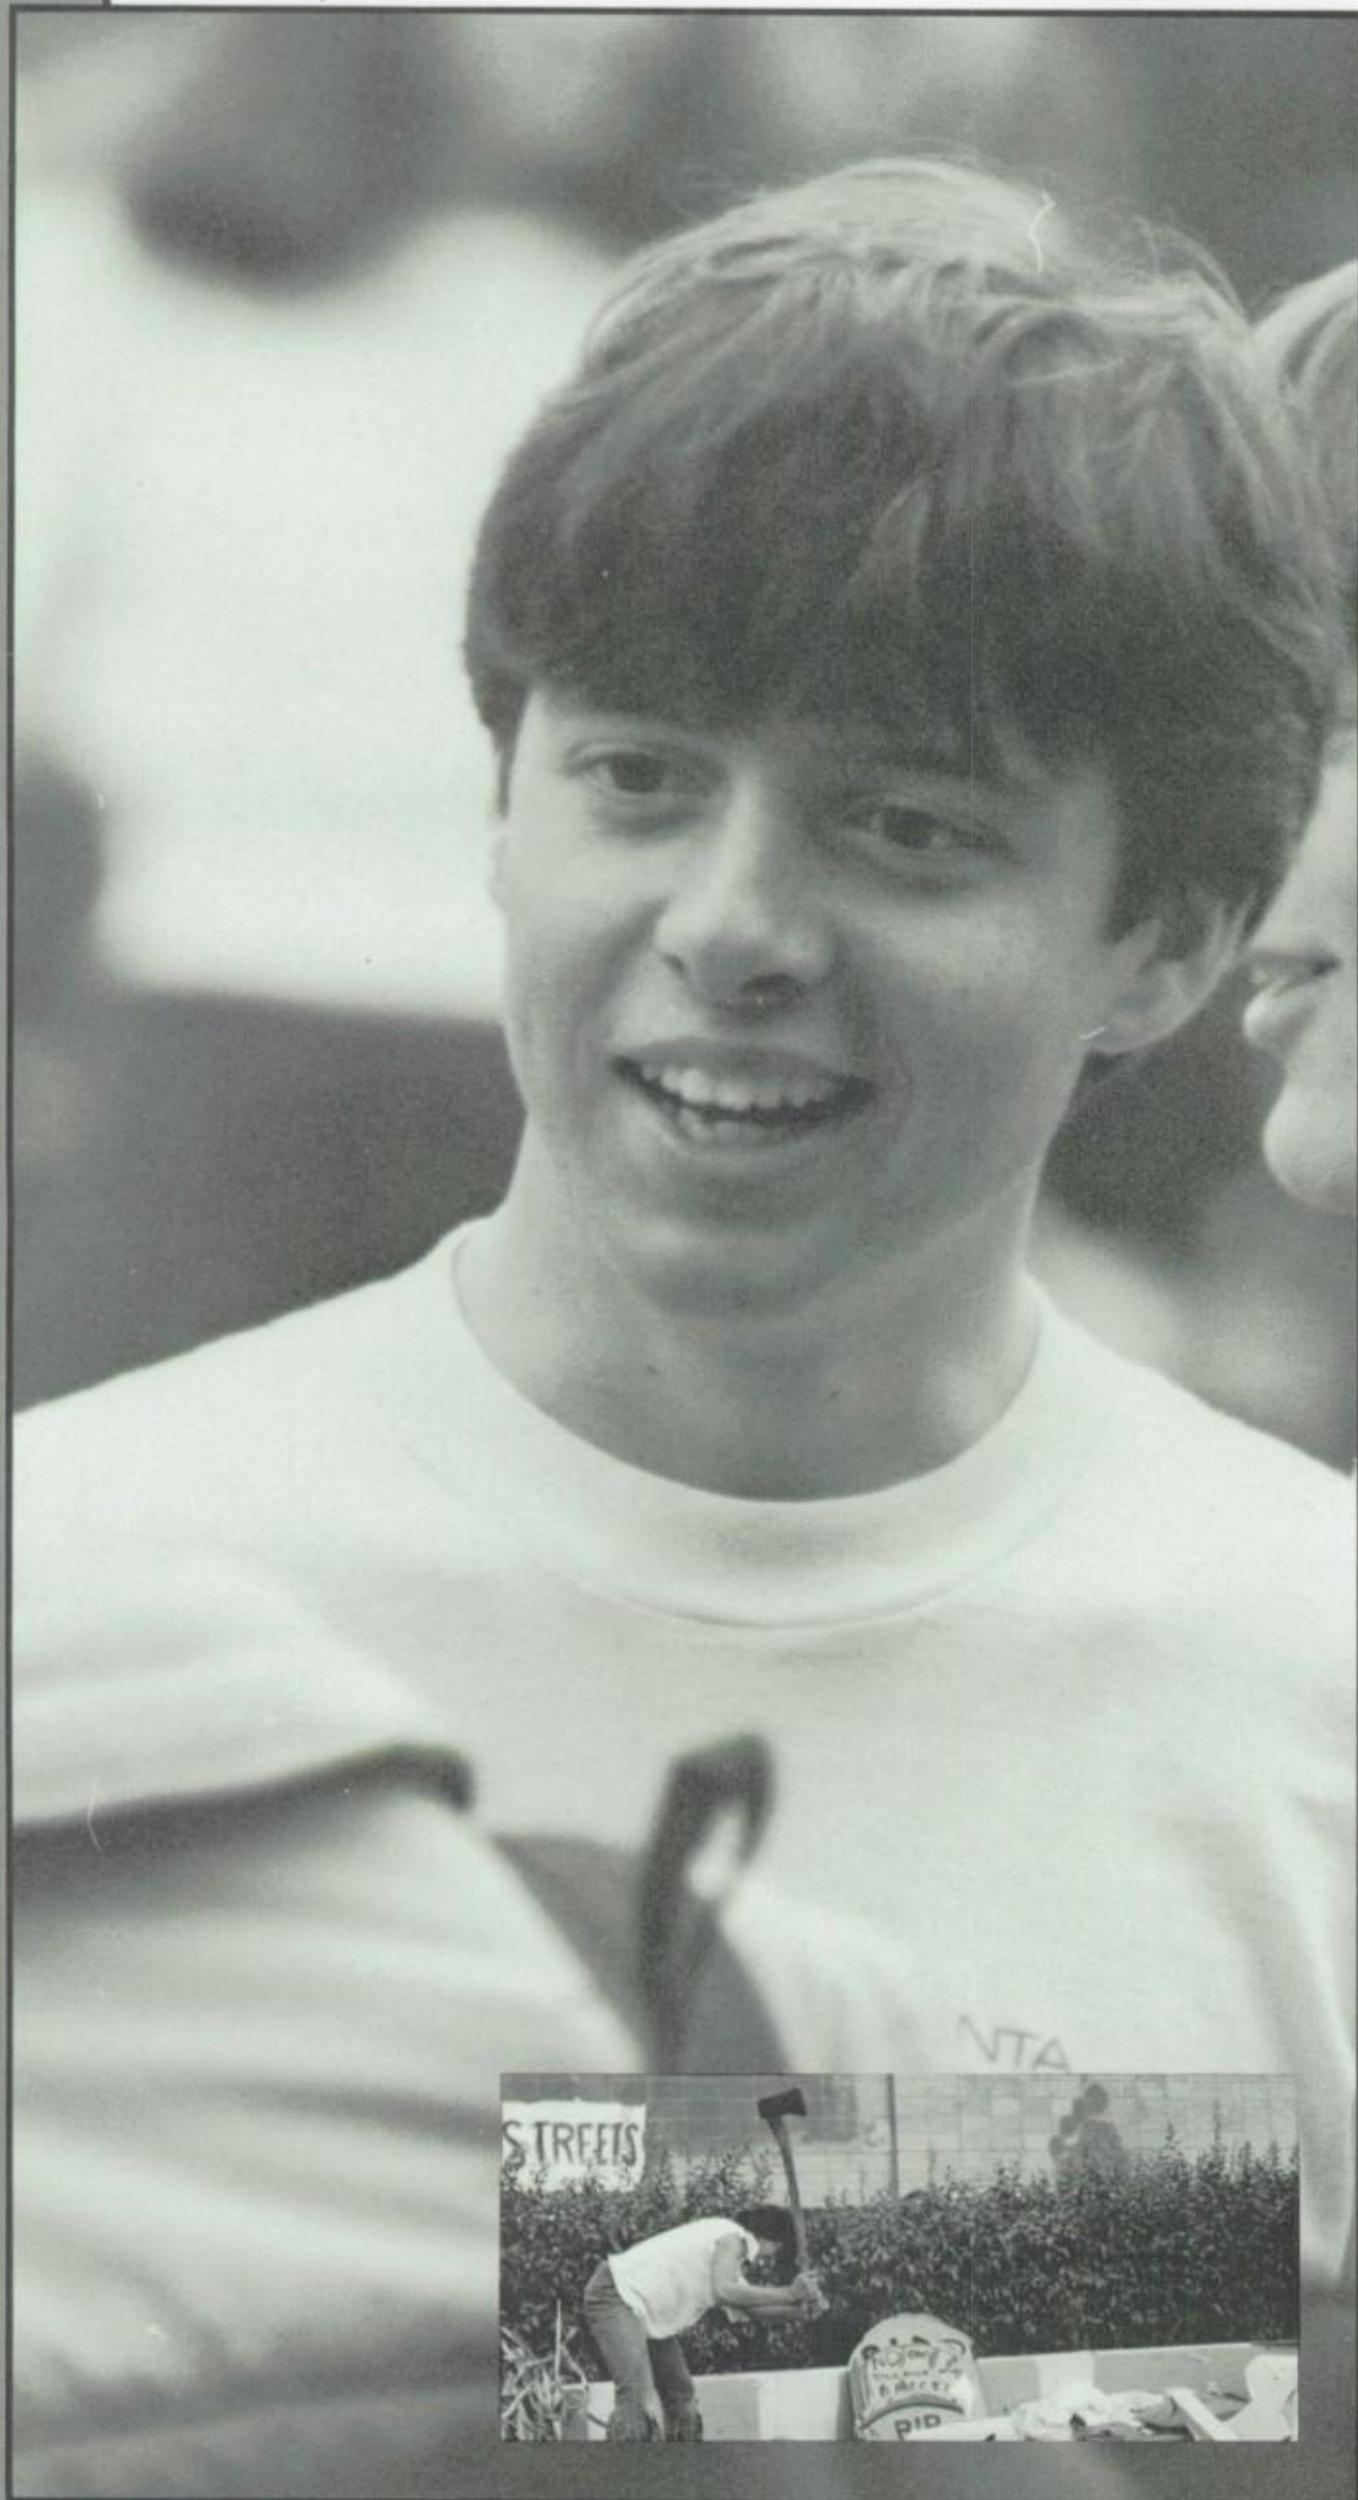

The key to becoming a senior is not being the oldest member of the student body, although that is an element. The key to becoming a senior is not simply becoming older, although, that too, is an element. Seniors, rather, are underclassmen who are shocked into becoming different people due to the realization of their future. For freshman, "seniority" is a million miles away, but it comes sooner than they think and "seniority" becomes a lightning paced race to accomplish all the things that we missed in the high school life that flew by. That's the realization of time — Time Lost.

Senior: "I want it to last a little longer. This isn't a school year, this is a school nine months." So the sophomore becomes the senior who becomes worried because there is so much to do and so little time. Dances come and go quickly, there is full Class of '83 participation in Spirit Week for the first time, seniors have a new awareness. Time flies when you're having fun (write that down). Our mission is to finish high school the best way we know how. Quietly, or with a bang, running or walking, there are nine months until the end and every minute counts. That's another (cont. p. 46) realization of time. — Time Gained.

SAT Tests are being taken, the applications for college admissions and scholarships are picked up, we are fitted for cap and gown . . . it's December . . . already. First semester passed like a flash, college acceptance letters are arriving, "senioritis" creeps into the lives of many . . . it's March . . . already. Taking the final finals, prom bids are on sale, shorts and sun dresses are on campus . . . it's June . . . Graduation. It's been an exciting first segment of life, but it's time to start another. A high school senior has a glowing vision of the future and a realization of time. — Time Lost.

The time: 1997

The setting: your home

It's been a tough day. You lost two big deals and you're afraid the boss is about to fire you. The kids are screaming. The wife is nagging. You need relaxation.

You slumber towards the television set. You flip through the channels. "Mork Loves Chachi" is on channel 7. It seems the cute little fellow from Ork was a little weird and . . . Isn't television wonderful?

You turn off the tube and suddenly something catches your eye. Your yearbook! Hot dang, you haven't looked through it in years.

After several hours of looking at your old friends, you turn to the faculty section. Here were the people we grew to love and hate. You begin to browse through the pages.

English. For four years English was something you were never without. Hey, there's Nick Ferentinos. What a great guy. Not only did he make American Lit. and British Lit. enjoyable but to handle two periods of Journalism was too much to bear.

THE OLD

The Epitaph staff, though super seemed to add a few grey hairs to head. You may have heard someone say he's nursing an ulcer right now but the brain cells aren't what they used to be.

Look at hairy, old Chuck Pelto. Past those outrageous ties and sometimes tedious lectures, AP English was definitely an enriching experience. Look where that class got you. Two screaming kids, a nagging wife.

You look over the English teachers and come across Nelson Pereira and Shareen Clarke. What a pair of lovable characters. Nelson was never short on energy (or stories) and always dramatic Clarke was, beneath her "cards", a great gal.

While thinking about the millions of Scan Tron tests you took in English you quickly turn the page to the infamous History section.

Now there were characters. Rodger Halstead's (alias Dick Kzenbager) unique course, 'War and Peace', was a joy even if he did get a bit crazy throwing transparencies, tempting antelope imitations, and telling you how he avoided the draft.

Now you begin to remember. This was the year Plungy lost weight, 'Swift kept shaken', and Ralph Ma and Mike Mulvihill both decided to give you another look at their shiny heads. And, as always, U.S. Government was a nice, simple class where everyone got an "A". (ha,ha)

All in all, however, all the history teachers did a great job and taught you about your country, your home, and your past.

GOOD DAYS

You turn to the Mathematics section but begin to remember Miss DeSousa wanting to "shoot you with a shotgun" and her always unal English, Mrs. Edwards explaining Algebra and Geometry in a multitude of weird voices and Elwin Jackson's super sports jackets, so you immediately turn the page.

Science, always a thrilling subject (casm). Yet you still remember all the great times there were. John Stas made the (Phys) class an experience you won't forget. You seem to remember something about a whale named Scapula but disregard the silliness of the moment.

Well, look here! It's Marty "Bud" Hieson. Funny, but you never did see the humor in comparing equilibrium to boys and girls at a dance. (Assuming they were all normal) As always "Humble Hal" Frisch and "Ole Wolf" Hanisch kept the party moving right along. Frisch as far as you can remember wore very short shorts and had a set of very long legs. And Wolf was still playing pool his darts the last time you saw

You are slowly becoming sleepy as you remember all the tapes in foreign language, the appetizing stories in Driver's Ed. and those student scales to remember in band, you begin to fall asleep.

However, the kids are still screaming the wife is still nagging.

You close your yearbook, shut your eyes and sigh to yourself, "Those were the days. Those were the days." — J.S.

TEACHING DURING

ON THE GO During their free period teachers can be found in the administration building making copies, checking their boxes, or just hanging around.

GRADING PAPERS Teachers, swamped with students' homework and projects, find it helpful to complete a portion of their grading during their prep. period.

KICKING BACK The results of a psychological experiment showed that the average teacher needs to relax after instructing a few classes (especially during the prep period).

T.G.I.F.

Thank goodness it's Friday! It may be a common phrase, but there have never been truer words spoken.

When Friday rolls around, many students completely clear their minds of school and the pressures that go along with it for the next two days.

Many Homestead students head for the mountains or the beach, both common weekend spots.

Snow skiing is very popular. During the winter months, as soon as the first snow falls in the mountains, students flock to the ski resorts surrounding Lake Tahoe. Testing one's skills on the various slopes is always an exciting adventure.

Waterskiing and surfing are popular water sports participated in by Homestead students, which explains why many spend time at the beach.

Among the beaches visited by students, Santa Cruz beaches are the most popular. At Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, one can dare the rollercoasters and other rides, eat junk food, or just enjoy the sandy shore along the Pacific Ocean while lying in the warm sunshine. There are other beaches at Santa Cruz that are more secluded and not quite so noisy. — G.V.

ENTERTAINMENT THIS YEAR

What do students do to entertain themselves in their free time? Many students spend time going to movies or playing video games.

For some students, seeing movies is a weekly, or even nightly affair. The most popular movie this year was of course, ET, the Extra Terrestrial. This box office hit drew audiences of all types. Other popular movies were: An Officer and a Gentleman, First Blood, and Fast Times at Ridgemont High.

Playing video games is well liked among students. In addition to playing video games at arcades, home video is increasing in popularity. Some of the most played games include Pac-Man, Ms. Pac-Man, Donkey Kong, and Centipede. — G.V.

WHAT'S NEW?

Chuck and Di finally had their royal baby and their first fight — Comic strip hero Doonesbury took a leave of absence in December — The NFL demanded some changes and when they weren't granted they struck, ruining the football season and causing a rise in the birth rate — Leonid Brezhnev, leader of Russia, died — Some tainted bottles of Tylenol caused six deaths and a poison-food scare in supermarkets throughout the country — Hurricane Iwa hit Hawaii harder than it had been hit in twenty years — Cal took Stanford and its fans by surprise in the Big Game by scoring and winning in the final six seconds of the game — Israel's forces advanced into Lebanon and surrounded Beirut — The controversial MX missile was greatly discussed — The Bay Area lost its championship football team the Raiders to Los Angeles — This year brought the last episode of M*A*S*H — Jenny and Greg of All My Children got back together after their summer apart — ET captured the hearts of young and old alike. What can next year bring? — C.W.

"IN" GEAR

Fashion trends come and go.

The "preppie" look, that Homestead was branded for, led the crest of fashion trends last year and still lingers on in some social circles. Many believe no better comfort exists than a polo shirt, or oxford shirt, Topsiders and a well-worn pair of 501's.

As the rainy season ended, the desire for comfortable garb began, which started the "surfer" look. Long sleeved T-shirts, checkered Vans and a "tried-and-true" pair of 501's complete the outfit.

"New Wave" dress seemed to dominate the fashion trends this year. Polka dots and stripes, mini skirts, brightly colored blouses and a variety of pumps in a rainbow of colors, compliment the wardrobe of a trendy female.

Last but not least is one style that never goes out of fashion, the "jock" look. The jock look consists of several pairs of 501's (in various stages of fading), a Homestead football jersey, a letterman's jacket and Nikes. — E.H.

TO EACH HIS OWN

Decked out in leather jackets, bleached 501's and combat boots, the "punk" seems to be displaying his desire to be himself rather than what society wants him to be. Unusual hairstyles (in a rainbow of colors), chains, safety pins and multi-pierced ears create an image of the "punker."

A unique aspect of a punker includes the "punk crop" haircut where the tops and sides are cut very short while the back and sides remain somewhat long. The hair may also stand up straight, stick straight out, or cut so short you may not notice any style.

The punkers' fashion includes an interesting array of clothing (or pieces of clothing as some may see it). Handkerchiefs tied with chains decorate the waist line, and leg, while safety pins dangle from various parts of the body.

Punkers may be different, but they add to the spirit at Homestead. — N.P.

HIGH SCHOOL HANGOUTS

Being a typical student at Homestead entails becoming a constant eater. It seems all the local hangouts are restaurants. If you want to fit in, you have to be a constant patronizer.

Take lunch for example. As soon as the twelve-thirty bell rings cars begin heading toward the famous sandwich shop, Togo's. Lines are usually ten to fifteen minutes long during this time. But when your teeth sink into the sourdough rolls, you realize the wait was well worth it. Students are seen returning to school carrying brown paper bags, full of sandwiches and their favorite drink, blarring the Togo's logo.

After school usually involves a trip to either Swenson's or Fro-Yo. Swenson's provides the more conventional person with over 50 flavors to choose from.

Fro-Yo is for the typical Californian teen. Sporting six to eight flavors a day, you can also choose from a wide variety of toppings. These can be anything from fresh fruit to cookie crumbs.

While munching your Swiss Mocha yogurt with wheat germ on top you can try your skill at Pac-Man, Ms. Pac-Man or Space Invaders.

Deciding on weekend dinners or lunches at Chilli's is usually unanimous. Chilli's is known for their famous french fries and free refills on soft drinks. You can easily see anyone from the Homestead campus, from students to teachers, while waiting. The wait on the weekend can be anywhere from fifteen to sixty minutes.

After football games, you can find a crowd at the Pizza Peddler. The employees at this popular pizza place are mostly students from Homestead. The majority in this crowd are jocks and rah-rah's. Some of them eat, but most just 'hang-out'. — K.M.

■ CLASSROOM ATMOSPHERE ■

What do you think about while the teacher is going on and on and on . . . ? Here are some examples of what different students think about during class:

"Hmm . . . I wonder if Dennis will call tonight. Jack is such a jerk! I don't understand how I ever went out with him!"

"I can't believe Marjorie . . . like it's so disgusting — she went out with Sam. He's such a gack. Gag me with a jack hammer!"

"Let's see. I can do my History during the lecture in Chemistry, I can turn in my math late — Oh! my essay for Lit next period — I'll do that now!"

"Zzzzzzzzz . . ."

"Golly, I can't wait until Friday so Marvin, Harold and I can go to the Science Festival in Marin County. I'm so mad I lost my slide rule!"

"I can't even handle what Joanne is wearing. I said to her, 'I don't care if you want everyone to know you're going with each other — wearing his hiking boots is out.' I need a cig."

"I can't wait to see John after school today. It's already been 9 hours, 27 minutes and 42 seconds since we last saw each other. I'm gonna die!"

"5 more minutes!" — M.D.

The English as a Second Language (ESL) program of Homestead is unique in its presentation of Social Studies and English curriculum. In addition, the class helps these students from various world cultures to understand American cultural traditions through activities related to Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. The class consists of students from Egypt, Vietnam, Korea, Israel, Germany, India, the Philippines, Japan, Taiwan, Mexico, Iran, Puerto Rico, Iraq, Nicaragua, Hong Kong, and Mainland China. — C.P.

"Hi, is Trudi there?"
 "Hi Trudi — this is Sandi."
 "Like guess what?!"
 "What?"
 "Like Dr. Mike says I can get my braces off next week, and I won't even have to wear my headgear anymore!"
 "Wow! How totally awesome! Ya know, I just got the new Go-go's album today. It's totally tubular."
 "Rad. Hey, did you do your World Civ.?"
 "Yeah, why?"
 "Well, it's like I went over to Vallco today to get a new Rick Springfield baseball shirt, and I didn't have time to do it, so could I like copy it at recess?"
 "Like, well I guess, but you're going to have to do it totally fast — I don't want to be late to P.E."
 "Fer sure. Like did you hear about Greg and Susi? Like he broke up with her again."
 "Why?"
 "Because she wouldn't hold hands with him during Intro to Algebra."

 "Sheez. She is like so totally immature. I am so sure."
 "Ya know what . . . Scott Baio is on the cover of Tiger Beat this month!"
 "He's such a total babe! Like wow — what a lush!"
 "Like tell me about it. Listen, I gotta go. It's 8:00 and I want to watch "That's Incredible" and go to bed, okay?"
 "Okay — I gotta do a book report for Lit I anyway."
 "Okay, like I'll talk to ya tomorrow."
 "Fer sure . . . bye!"
 "Bye."

 "Wow what'd he do? I woulda croaked."
 "Well — he just jammed and shafted the chick."
 "I'd hope so."
 "Hey man — I gotta ramble. I gotta call Steve and see if he still wants to sell that Chevy of his. I need new wheels. My pick-up aint holdin' out no more."
 "Okay, see ya around John."
 "Yeah dude — take it easy." — M.D.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

He comes to a foreign school filled with foreign faces. He knows few people, and few people know him. Transplanted from the security of his homeland, he must spend the next year with people who he not only has never seen, but whose culture may radically differ from his own.

While most people never have to face this dilemma, some do so by choice. Over a dozen Homestead students this year undertook this journey to the United States as foreign exchange students.

For the most part, their decision was fueled by the desire to improve their English and learn more about the United States.

One major difference between the U.S. and Europe is the educational system, according to many exchange students. Also American families and culture and social life for high school students differ from that in Europe.

The students say that teachers are stricter in Europe, and that the teachers in America are more entertaining. They all had to adjust to living with unfamiliar families.

Social life is different here for the exchange students because there is a minimum drinking age here and also they are not allowed to drive while in America. They said that entertainment here is similar to that in Europe.

The good points apparently outweigh the bad as foreign exchange students in general reflect positive experiences. — A.W. & S.E. (Epitaph)

ASB

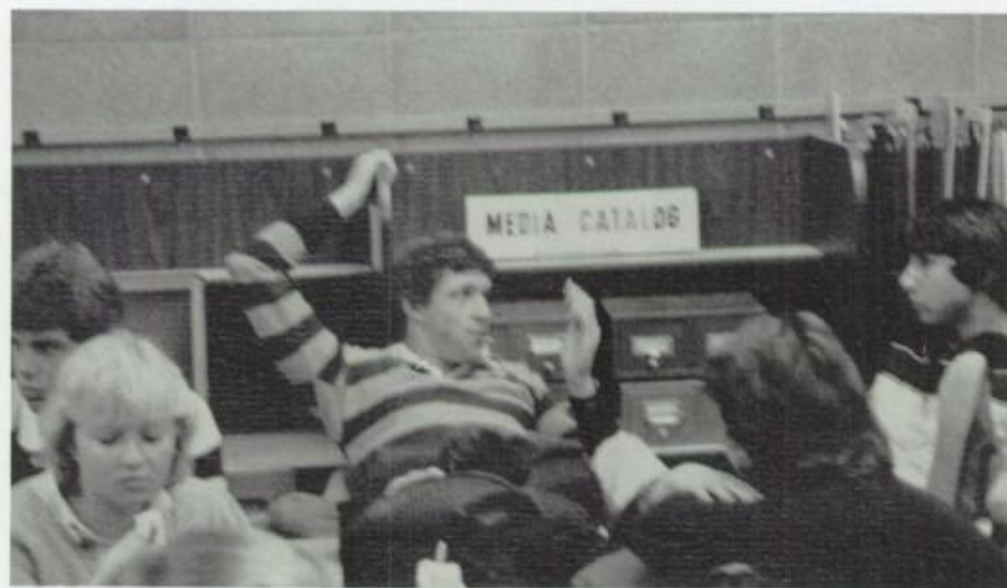

ASB, Associated Student Body, is the backbone of Homestead High School. Since the spring of 1982, this year's ASB has been planning activities, with the chief purpose of making Homestead run more efficiently. Under the enthusiastic leadership of President Shannon Pekary, four other elected officers, and several appointed officers, the student government has been fulfilling its goal since it took term last fall. Some of the projects included invisible kids, an all-school fundraiser, planning for and organizing teacher week, organizing spirit week, and several other activities. The invisible kid program was aimed at getting non-involved students to become more involved with the school and its activities.

But ASB is not all play. Many long hours of planning have gone in to most activities. All of the members have to be able to work compatibly with each other to be successful. Some students may not notice how hard ASB works but they would notice if ASB stopped planning activities. — N.P.

MONDAY MOURNING

"Honey, It's 7:30."

"Huh? Wha?"

"It's 7:30 a.m. — Monday."

"SEVEN-THIRTY!!!? Omigod! I don't believe this! It's already Monday! I haven't even started my homework! Well I guess I better get dressed — Oh no! All my clothes are in the washer! MOM!! Could you put my clothes in the dryer?! Now I'm going to have to iron them too! What time is it? 7:33. Oh no! Okay — I can do my Chemistry Lab at lunch, and I can do my Geometry while we're going over it. OH NO! My 15-page typed history report is due the beginning of 2nd period! Where are those books?! And the typewriter? I'm hungry! MOM! where's breakfast!!? What'd you do with my history books?! and the typewriter?! What time is it? 7:43. Oh no! I have to leave in 17 minutes! Well I can drive a little extra fast — I can leave in 25 minutes. OH NO! I still have to get gas! Okay so I'll be a little late on 1st. Omigod! I left all my books at Bev's house. I'll have to give her a call — MOM!! Get off the phone! I have to call Beverly! Wait a sec . . . I was supposed to feed the McGregors' dog yesterday, huh? 7:47. Oh no! Mom!! Could you go feed the McGregors' dog today when you have a chance?! I don't have any money for lunch . . . MOM!! Can I have a couple bucks for lunch . . . and where's breakfast?!!"

AFTERSCHOOL

At 3:10 every afternoon, Monday through Friday, a major transition takes place: school ends and life begins.

Each student has different plans, but there are two categories that encompass most of the activities they involve themselves in.

Sports:

Football, baseball, and basketball are usually participated in by big, loud guys, or wimpy little guys who want to become big and loud. These people are known as "jocks".

Spirit:

Cheerleaders are the female counterpart to the football, baseball, and basketball teams. They are the ones who provide us with an endless source of amusement at rallies. The drill team consists of those with a good sense of rhythm and help make the band look like a group instead of a bunch of roaming idiots.

Of course there are other sports, too numerous to mention, that many people devote a great deal of time to — everything from badminton to field hockey to wrestling. In all seriousness, these people should be commended for the hundreds of hours of abuse they put themselves through to better Homestead's reputation.

In addition to sports, quite a few students work. The job categories are many, ranging from places like "Bob's Gala Enchalada Palace" to "Sax" disgustingly costly clothing.

Of course there are hundreds of other things that students do after school — some not having anything to do with school (such as sleeping, exercising, etc.) and others that do various club activities such as drama, journalism, Interact and Althenians. All of these people make Homestead what it is. — M.D.

FOOTBALL FEVER

Where were you nearly every Friday night last fall? Most likely at the Homestead football games along with many others. But although the games were interesting to watch, most of the fun took place in the stands.

Always one of the first things noticed when approaching the bleachers is the band. Continuing with its longstanding tradition of excellence the band came up with many "unique" cheers including the ever popular "Take off that 'purple' shirt." But besides the cheers they also provided us with some excellent halftime entertainment.

Looking at the crowd there were always many different small groups within the larger crowd as well as the band. The Equestriettes, seated together and ready to dance at the halftime show. Frosh-soph football players (wearing their green jerseys of course) scoping on chicks and acting cool. The J.V. cheerleaders sat in front of the Varsity cheerleaders. They helped out by adding spirit as well as doing a little scoping of their own.

But the highlight of the night were the touchdowns — not only because of the points they scored but because it gave us a chance to go crazy as the band broke into the first notes of "All Right Now." — K.B.

WHERE ARE YOU AT LUNCH?

"Hurry up Julie. Run! We've got to make it home in time to see 'All My Children'. Greg and Jenny are supposed to meet today."

"Patty, I'm running as fast as I can. I already trampled a teacher and two freshmen."

"Quick, throw me my car keys."

"We're stopping by Fro-Yo first, aren't we? I'm starving."

"No way, and miss the rendez-vous of the year. Not on your life."

"Boy, am I pissed off. The previews yesterday said that they would meet today. I guess we'll have to come home again tomorrow."

"I can't. I have an ASB meeting tomorrow. Do you realize how many days a week we come home for lunch?"

Ya, five. Remember how different it used to be three years ago, our freshman year?"

"I know, there used to always be something going on. Bands used to play once a week in the springtime."

"And remember slave day? Wasn't that hysterical when that man got his shorts ripped off?"

"How could I ever forget that, and what about all those sporting competitions?"

"My favorite was the six-man ski."

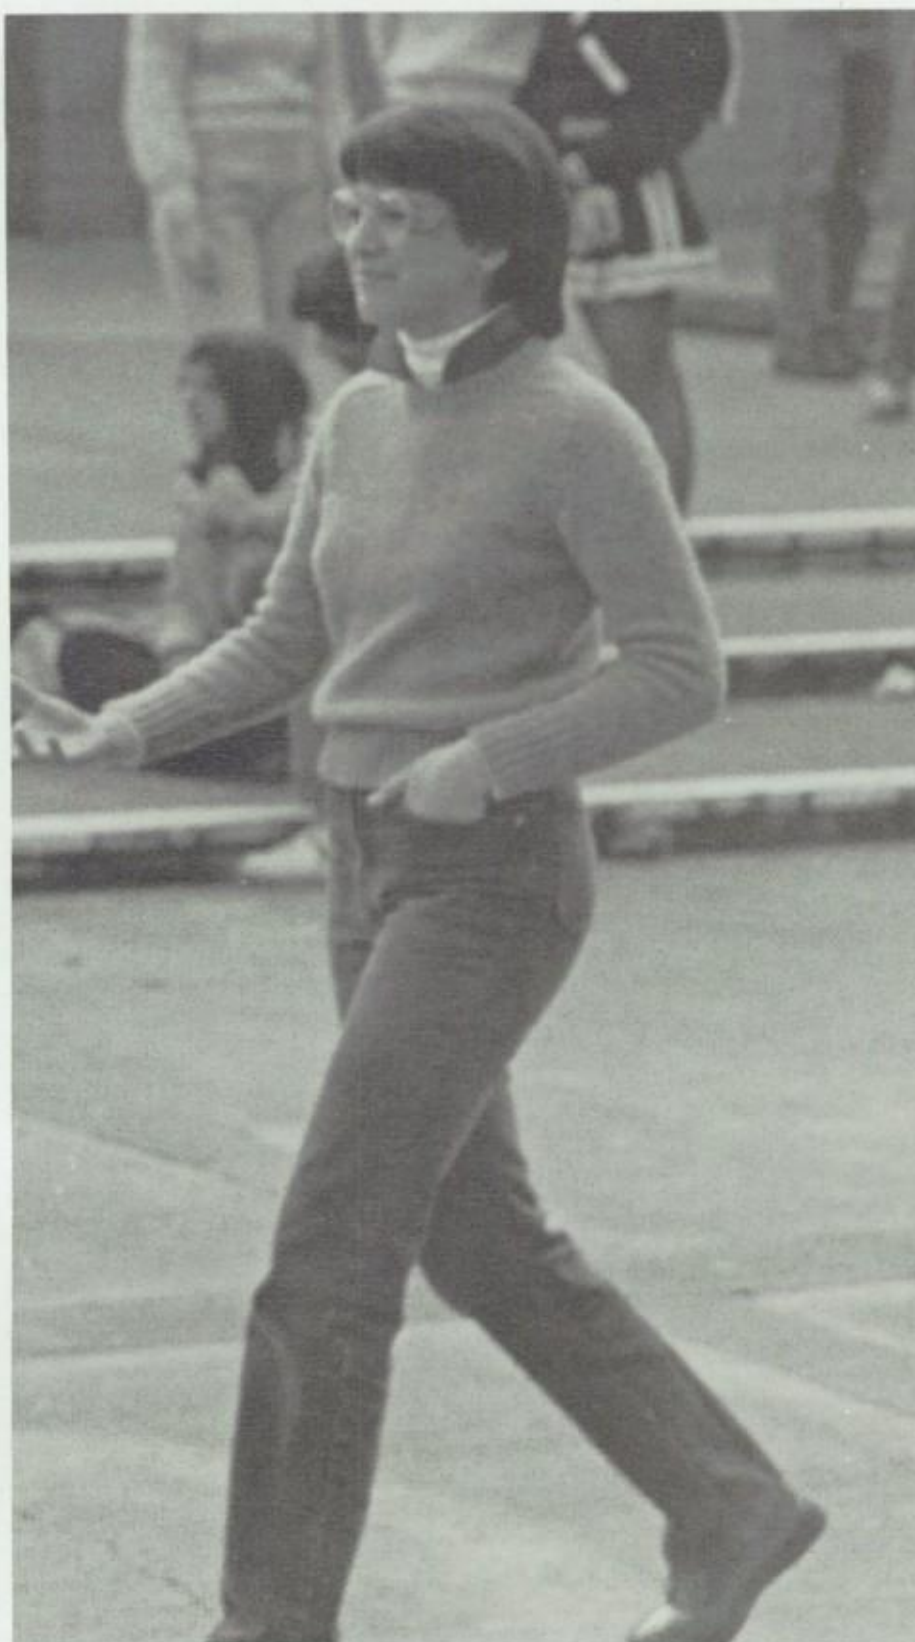

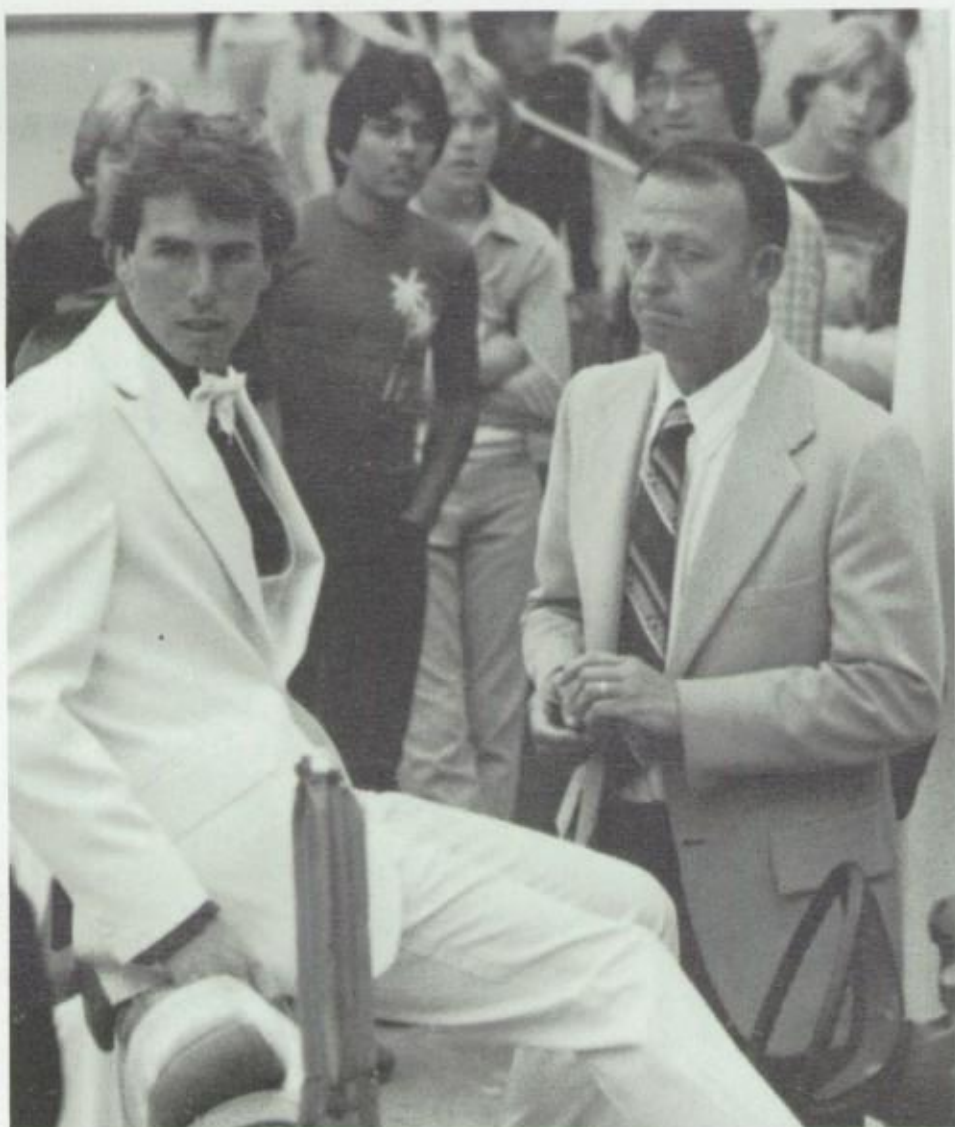

"I used to love the arm wrestling."

"Well, we better head back to school."

"Let's stop by Togo's on the way and pick up a couple sandwiches." — L.W.

SADIE

DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY

The junior sponsored Sadie Hawkins dance was a great success. Over 150 couples dressed up for the November 19th dance. The costumes included Hare Krishna, the Pink Ladies and T-Birds, and the Mickey Mouse Club. Almost all the other couples and groups dressed up. Those who had on the most interesting costumes, were chosen as semi-finalists in the costume contest. To determine the finalist, the audience was asked to clap for their favorite. Because all the semi-finalists were such good sports for standing in front of everyone and being so thoroughly embarrassed, all five contestants won KMEL t-shirts.

The band, though something of a mystery before the dance, was not really a band. One of the disc jockeys of KMEL, and his crew provided the musical entertainment for the three hour evening. Although some of the people who heard about the new music idea before the dance were a little skeptical about such a change, the music was great.

The theme of this year's girls-ask-guy dance was Hollywood. At the beginning of the evening all the couples were given a number. When the dance was over, each couple's number was valuable for various door prizes. Those prizes included posters of famous Hollywood stars. The juniors spent numerous hours decorating the gym and student center with posters, streamers, and stars, all depicting sights of Hollywood. The evening of fun began at 9:00 ... and midnight was soon around the corner, ending a wonderful evening had by all.

hinder anybody's desire to have a good time, because everyone danced the night away. Half way into the evening, the king and queen of the dance were chosen: Shannon Pekary and Lisa Welti. The band resumed the music, and the dance floor was again crowded. The Winter Formal was a wonderful dance for all who attended.

THE CHRISTMAS BALL KING AND QUEEN: Lisa Welti and Shannon Pekary.

December 19, 1982

was a very special night for a hundred and forty couples. It was the night of the Homestead High School Winter Formal. The dance was held at the Red Lion Hotel in San Jose. The evening began with a buffet dinner including several entrees and salads. For those who finished dinner early, they had the opportunity to look around the hotel, and out at the dazzling lights of San Jose. If the lights of the city were not enough, the gigantic chandeliers of the hotel were overwhelming in themselves.

After comparing dates and dresses, most of the couples were ready to dance. "Batteries Not Included" was the name of the band, and to most people's surprise, they were new wave. That did not

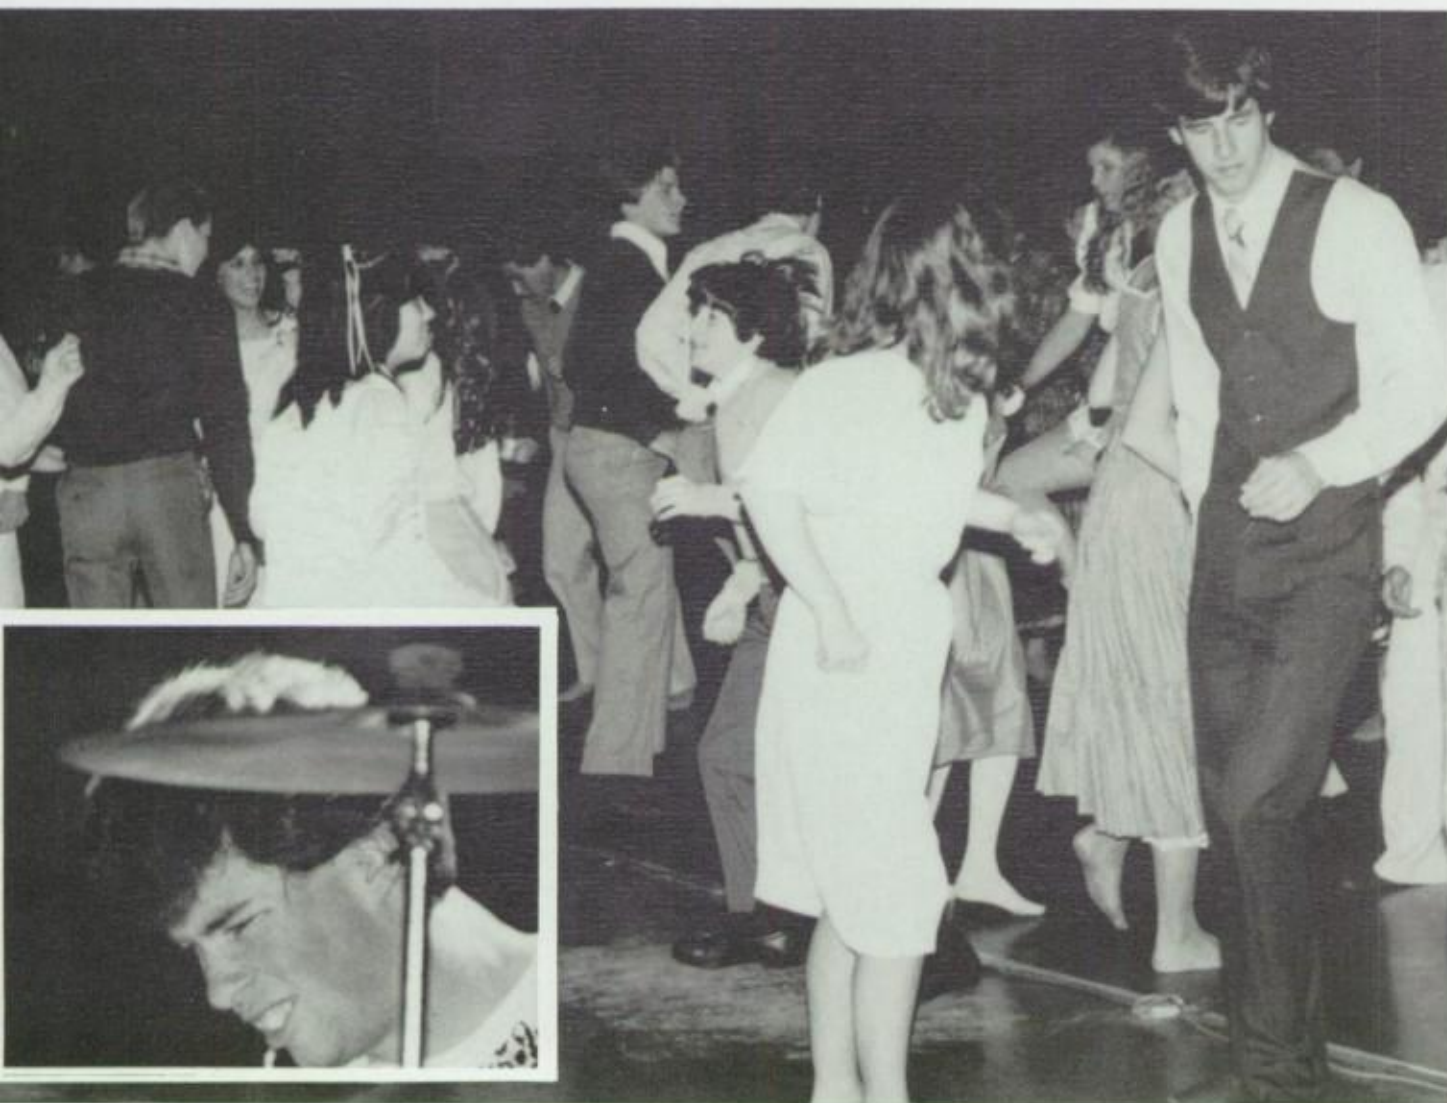

SENSATIONAL!

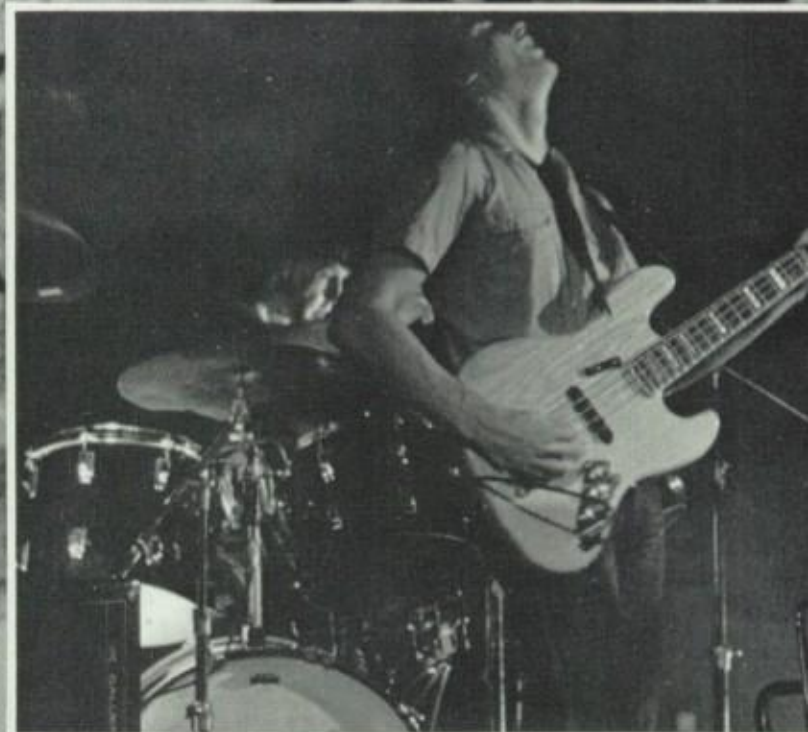

The last dance of the year, before the Junior and Senior Proms, was the semi-formal, girl ask guy, Spring Sensation, which occurred on March 18, 1983. Over eighty couples attended this "Evening in Paradise" which was the theme of the dance, and was sponsored by the Senior class as a fund-raiser for the all-night party. The student center was decorated with streamers, posters, and other props representing everyone's vacation dreamland . . . Hawaii. The bid was a coconut made out of construction paper with the couple's names on the front and information about the dance on the inside. The refreshments were pieces of pineapple, apple and other fruits, which helped the whole idea of paradise come together.

Most couples arrived at Homestead around nine o'clock, following a nice dinner with friends out on the town or at home. The dance lasted until eleven o'clock, so most people danced for at least two hours. The band, Renegade, was excellent, which explains why people were having such a wonderful time the entire night. The Spring Sensation provided relief from the rainy days, and brought some hope that sunny days may be here again. An Evening in Paradise, although only three hours long, was a wonderful time for all those who attended.

MID WINTER

LUAU

The Midwinter Luau, an A.S.B. sponsored dance, provided refuge for Homestead students who needed to get out of the rain and into a sunny, Hawaiian atmosphere. The band, Canada, played for three hours, providing musical entertainment for the dance.

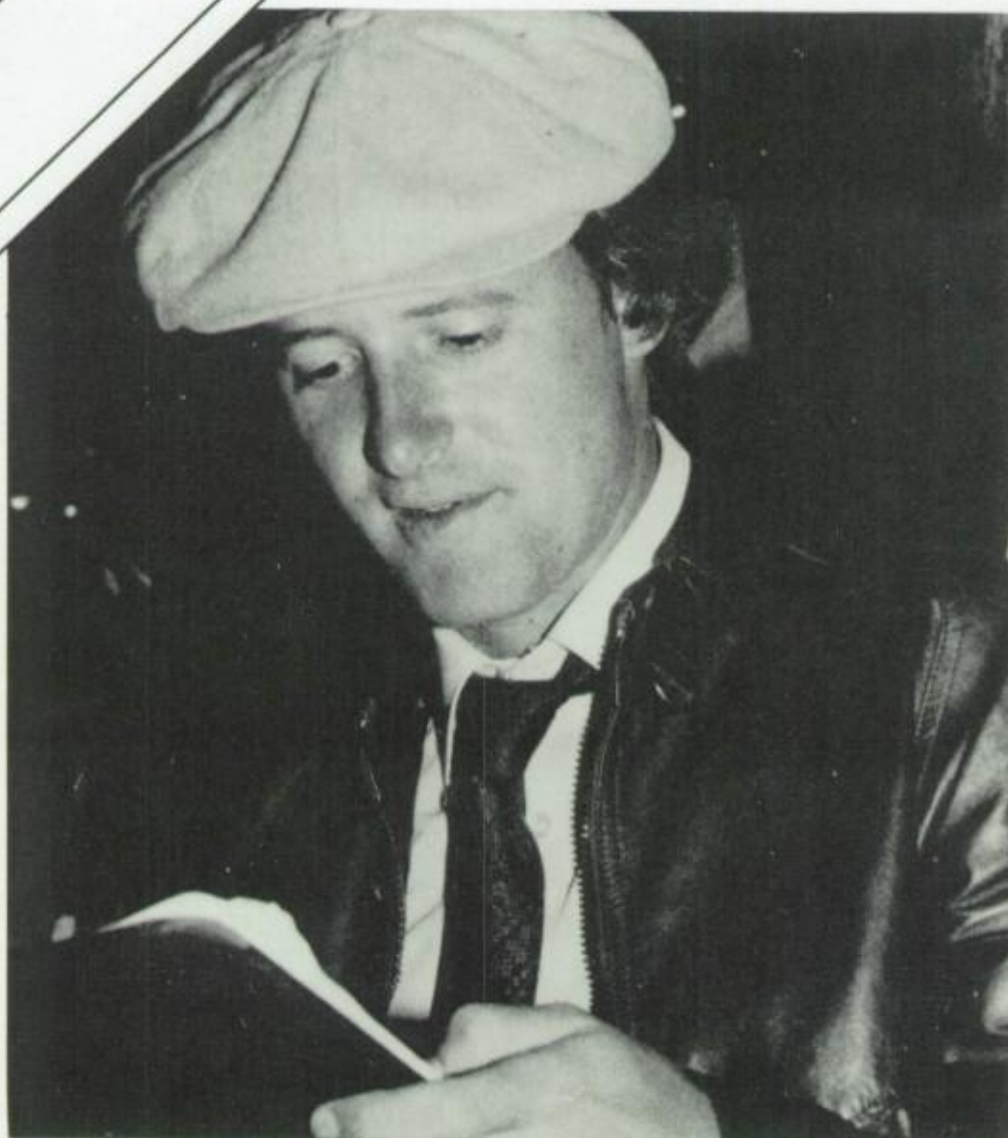

In order to get into the dance, Hawaiian attire was required. Those who attended were decked out in Bermuda shorts, Hawaiian leis, tropical shirts, and various types of shoes. It sure didn't seem like it had been raining all week previous to the dance.

Over six hundred people attended the tropical extravaganza, making the Midwinter Luau one of the best attended dances of the year. A.S.B. raised over $700.00 to help pay for extracurricular activities.

In the crowded stands, there was a murmur of conversations, which occasionally would join together for a cheer or a yell of encouragement during a good play. It was a rather warm fall night and the band, situated at the left of the stands, had taken liberty in loosening their overlays and setting aside their hats. The scoreboard, at the right, showed the remaining few minutes left in the half, hesitantly counting off.

Suddenly, the drum major leaped upon the railing and with a wave of his hand, directed the band to go down to the track. I threw on my hat, grabbed my instrument, and began down the bleacher stairs, hopping from step to step. Soon, I was in formation near the goal posts. I was tensely awaiting my first show and could barely hear the announcer's voice come on — "Ladies and Gentlemen, for your halftime entertainment, we have the 'Fastest Band in the West', the Homestead High School Mighty Mustang Marching Band!" The drum major gave the command, "Burst!" and we were off!

In the beginning there was Kim Watson, the advisor. Then came her officers: Captain Angry Ann Meltzer, First Lieutenant Cynister Cynthia Pleines, and Second Lieutenant Cruel Cathy Judd. In order to make football and basketball halftimes more entertaining, they chose twenty-six dazzling dancers to complete the team.

Practice began during the summer of eight-two. The team was off to Drill Team Camp where they received a rating of Superior for their performance as a team, along with individual awards.

September came, and school began. The Equestriettes were ready to show the school how hard work and long practices pay off. To meet the demands of the marching band style, the group performed to a different tune five out of the eight weeks of the football season.

The seasons flew by and next for the team was the state competition. The Equestriettes performed a routine, showing their talent and high energy level. They placed number one in the state. Next they were to travel to Los Angeles and Concord for yet two more competitions.

This extraordinary group of girls managed to kick, turn, and leap from September to June . . . smiling all the way.

LETTER GIRLS

Spirit

The class of 1986 began spirit week with Thanksgiving. Some freshmen dressed up as indians and pilgrims representing a holiday that has been celebrated since America was founded over 300 years ago. At brunch, they had a Thanksgiving dinner underneath the tree in the middle of the quad. Rumor has it that the tree was decorated by the juniors ... but who knows, maybe the freshmen did it. Also set up in the quad was a cornucopia, filled with bountiful fruit and vegetables. At the homecoming rally on Friday, the freshmen displayed spirit by decorating their part of the gym. The freshmen lettergirls led the class in pep cheers, showing how much spirit the class of 1986 really has!

Picking the 4th of July as their holiday, the sophomores showed their spirit by decorating the quad and themselves in red, white, and blue. The quad was abundant with posters which said things like, "85 is Alive!", "Hats off to 85!", and "Happy 4th of July!" One poster, that was of much confusion to many, stated "Sophomores Leak on Juniors!" The sophomores added to the spirit of the Friday rally by responding to the cheers of the J.V. cheerleaders. Their area of the gym was full of celebration for America and their class with decorations of posters and balloons. The class of 1985 certainly have a patriotic way of showing their spirit!

Juniors

Seniors

1983

Week

Showing great spirit on Wednesday, the juniors celebrated their day with terrific enthusiasm. Dressed up in tuxedos, evening gowns, and other symbolic costumes, the juniors were ready for New Year's Eve. Other costumes included Father Time, Baby New Year, and cocktail waitresses, all celebrating the coming of the new year with great excitement. At lunch the juniors counted down the minutes to the hour, drinking sparkling apple cider, and showing their spirit of the new year. The juniors showed definite enthusiasm at the homecoming rally, with the leadership of the class officers and other enthusiastic members of the junior class. Their efforts were rewarded by their victory in the spirit week competition.

Halloween was the final holiday celebrated during spirit week. The seniors decorated the quad with many posters, balloons, and ghosts, portraying the spookiest holiday of the year. Most of the seniors dressed up as ghosts, devils, witches, black cats, and other scary characters of the day, recreating Halloween on their last spirit day at Homestead. The quad was filled with the sounds of the "Monster Mash", and sights of many seniors dancing in the quad. The rally was a success for the seniors as they responded to the yells of the senior spirit leaders. The juniors may have won spirit week competition, but the class of 1983 completed the week with an abundant amount of spirit!

HOUR

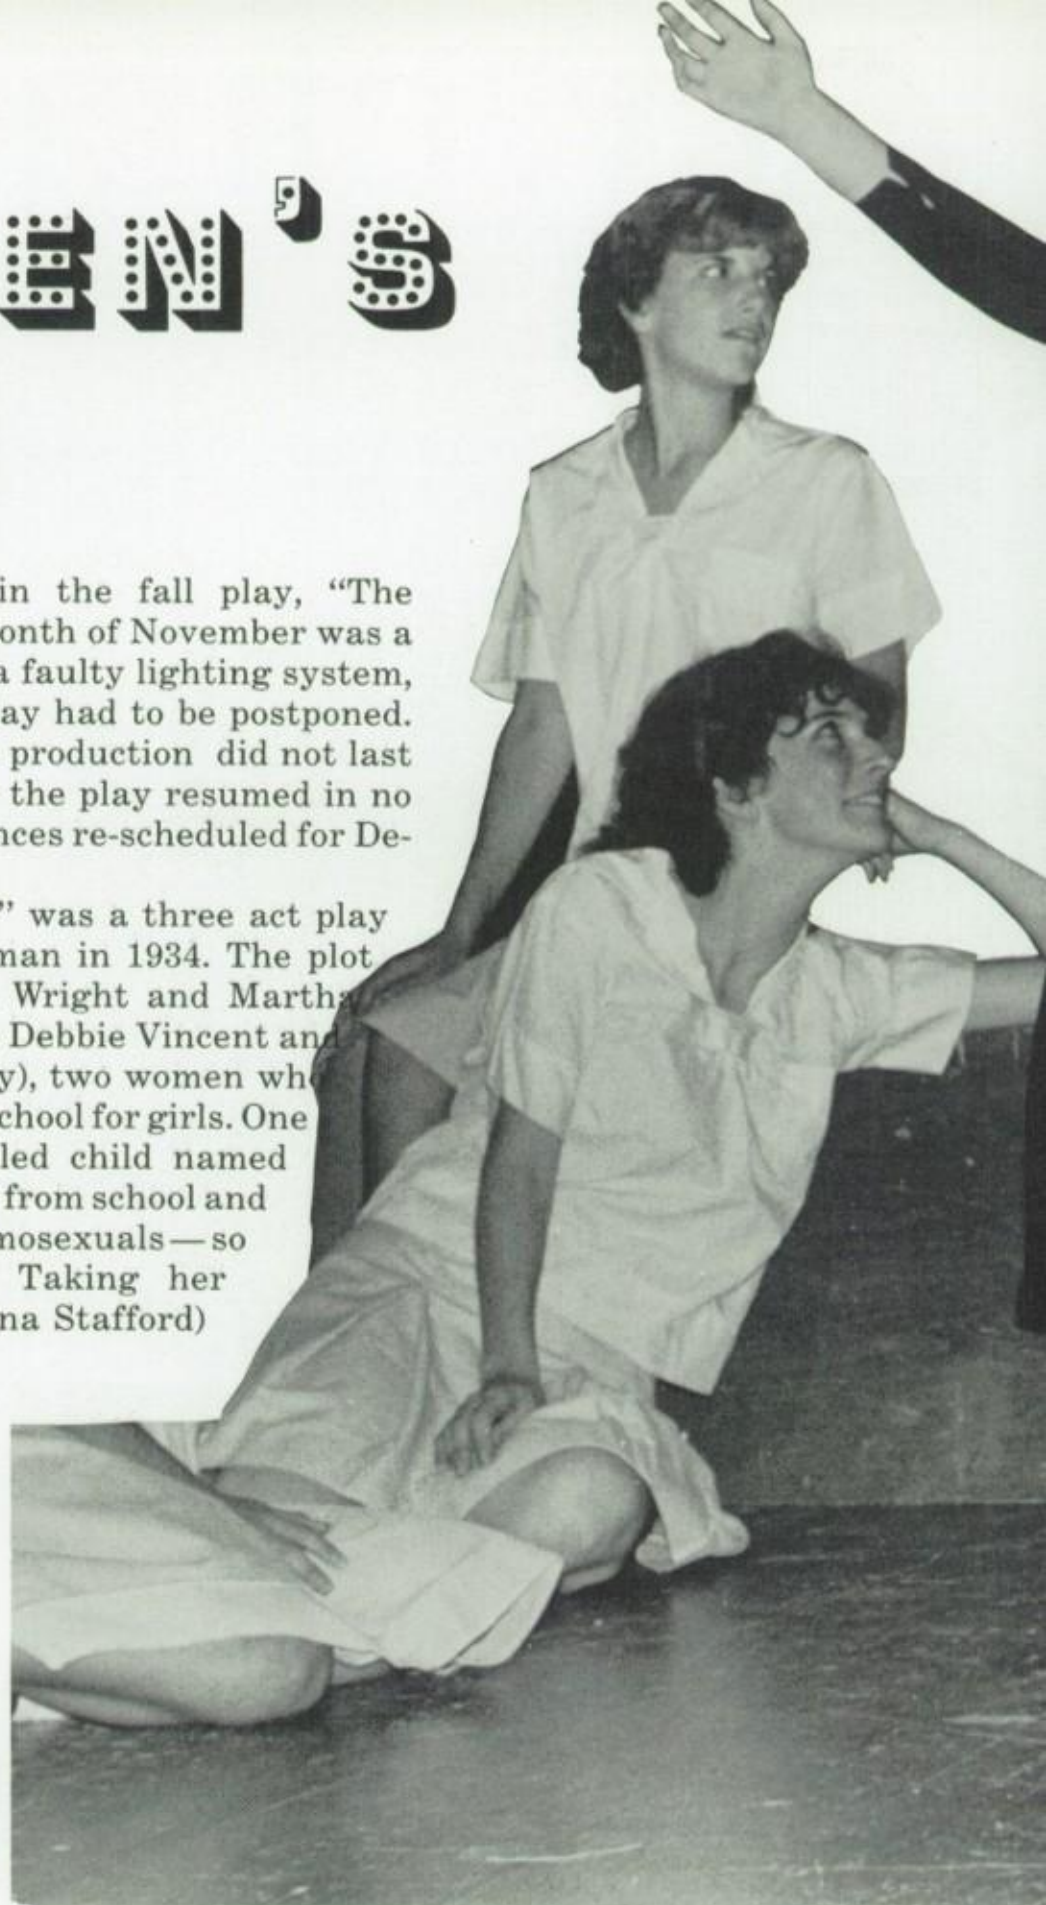

For those involved in the fall play, "The Children's Hour," the month of November was a little scary. Because of a faulty lighting system, the production of the play had to be postponed. But that damper on the production did not last for long. Rehearsals for the play resumed in no time, with the performances re-scheduled for December 2, 3, and 4.

"The Children's Hour" was a three act play written by Lillian Hellman in 1934. The plot revolved around Karen Wright and Martha Dobie (played by seniors Debbie Vincent and Cheryl Cort, respectively), two women who own a private boarding school for girls. One of the students, a spoiled child named

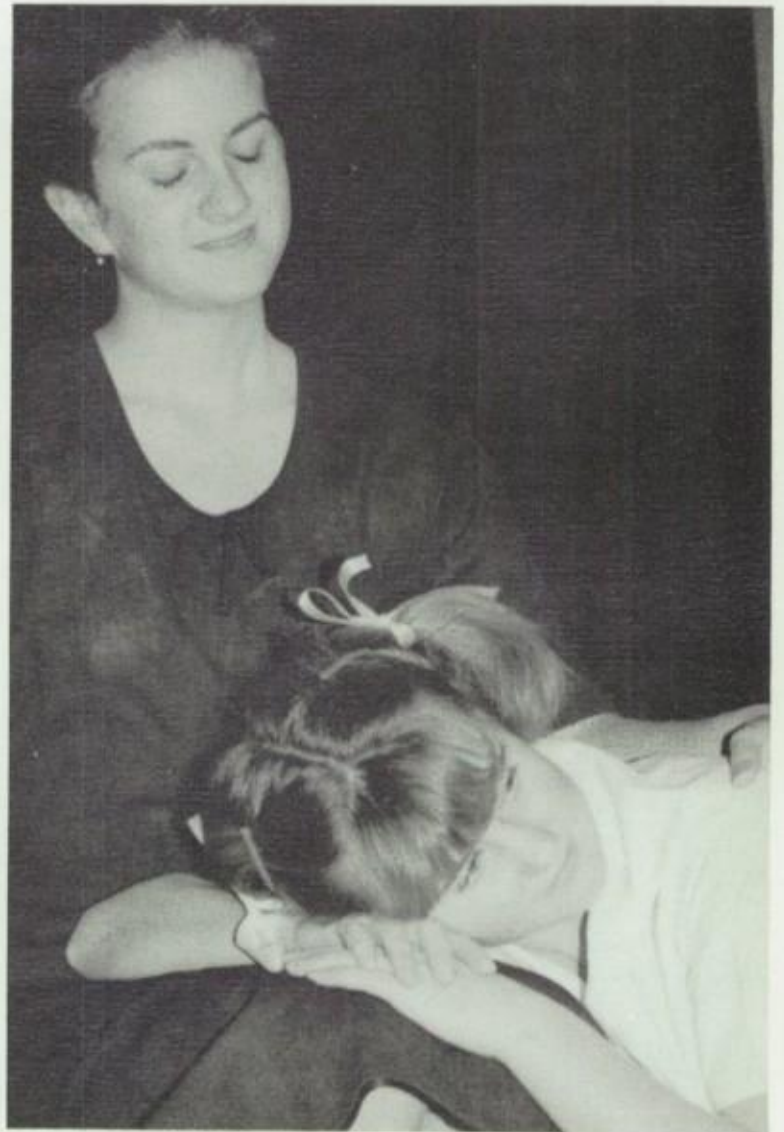

Mary Tilford, (played by Sharon Amacher), runs away from school and tells her grandmother a lie — that the teachers are homosexuals — so that she won't have to return to the school. Taking her Granddaughter's word, Emelia Tilford (played by Tina Stafford) calls the parents of the girls in the school and urges them to remove their children from the institution. The destruction of many lives follows. Karen and Martha deal with the accusation in different ways.

Beyond the plot of the play, there are many more elements that make up the production of a play. "The Children's Hour" was made up of a cast of eighteen. The dedication to a fine play certainly goes further than the cast. Over twenty-five people helped with directing, producing, and managing the play. Behind the scenes also include costumes, scenery, and publicity. In addition, several students gave their time and effort in various other areas: special thanks to them. There is no doubt all the people involved in the production of "The Children's Hour" would love to give Shareen Clarke, the plays director, a big round of applause.

GUYS

Although Homestead High School has not produced a musical in over four years, "Guys and Dolls," the spring play was a great success. "Guys and Dolls" played four nights in March, the 23, 24, 25, and 26. But before these four nights became part of the past, so much had to be done in preparation for them.

For a lot of people at Homestead, the talk of a musical was very exciting. Over 100 people helped make "Guys and Dolls" a wonderful play. For the audience, it is sometimes hard to understand the many hours spent "behind-the-scenes". In "Guys and Dolls" there were over twenty people who helped with scenery. Another ten people helped with make-up. Cheri Brown and Linda Brown headed up the crew of six people who organized all the costumes. Another ten people helped on the lighting and publicity crews. And what would a musical be without music, and the talent of twenty-five musicians.

Since it's original production over twenty years ago, "Guys and Dolls" has been a musical fable that has a certain charm. The story takes place in 1952 in New York on Broadway. The plot revolves around the goals of the four leads. It involves the goals of Nathan Detroit, who desires to set up a notorious crap game and not to marry Miss Adelaide with whom he has been engaged for fourteen years; the goals of Miss Adelaide are to end Nathan's crap game and finally to marry him; Sky Masterson hopes to retain his bachelor image, yet also enjoy the blossoming love he has for Sarah, as a result of a bet made with Nathan; and Sarah Brown wishes success for the Save-A-Soul Mission of which she is in charge, and to secure the love of Sky Masterson.

SHOW

ART

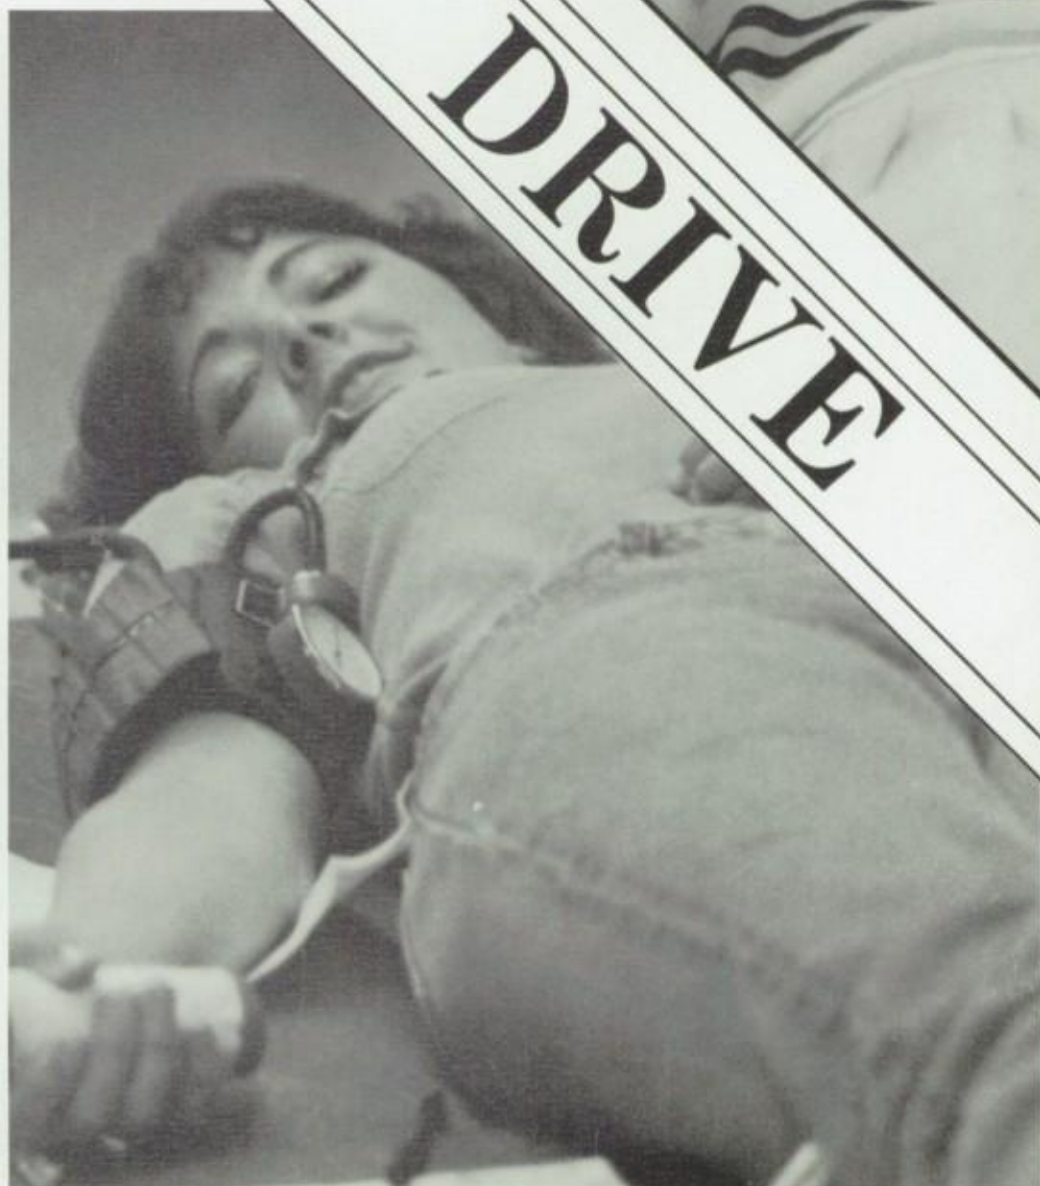

Every year, the Homestead High School Art Club puts on an art show. For two days, the art room is open for anyone and everyone who wants to go in and look at what is on display. At that time, students, teachers, and outsiders are invited to look at all kinds of art from drawings to ceramics, some of it for sale and some just for show. The money made from the art show goes to the art department.

BLOOD

DRIVE

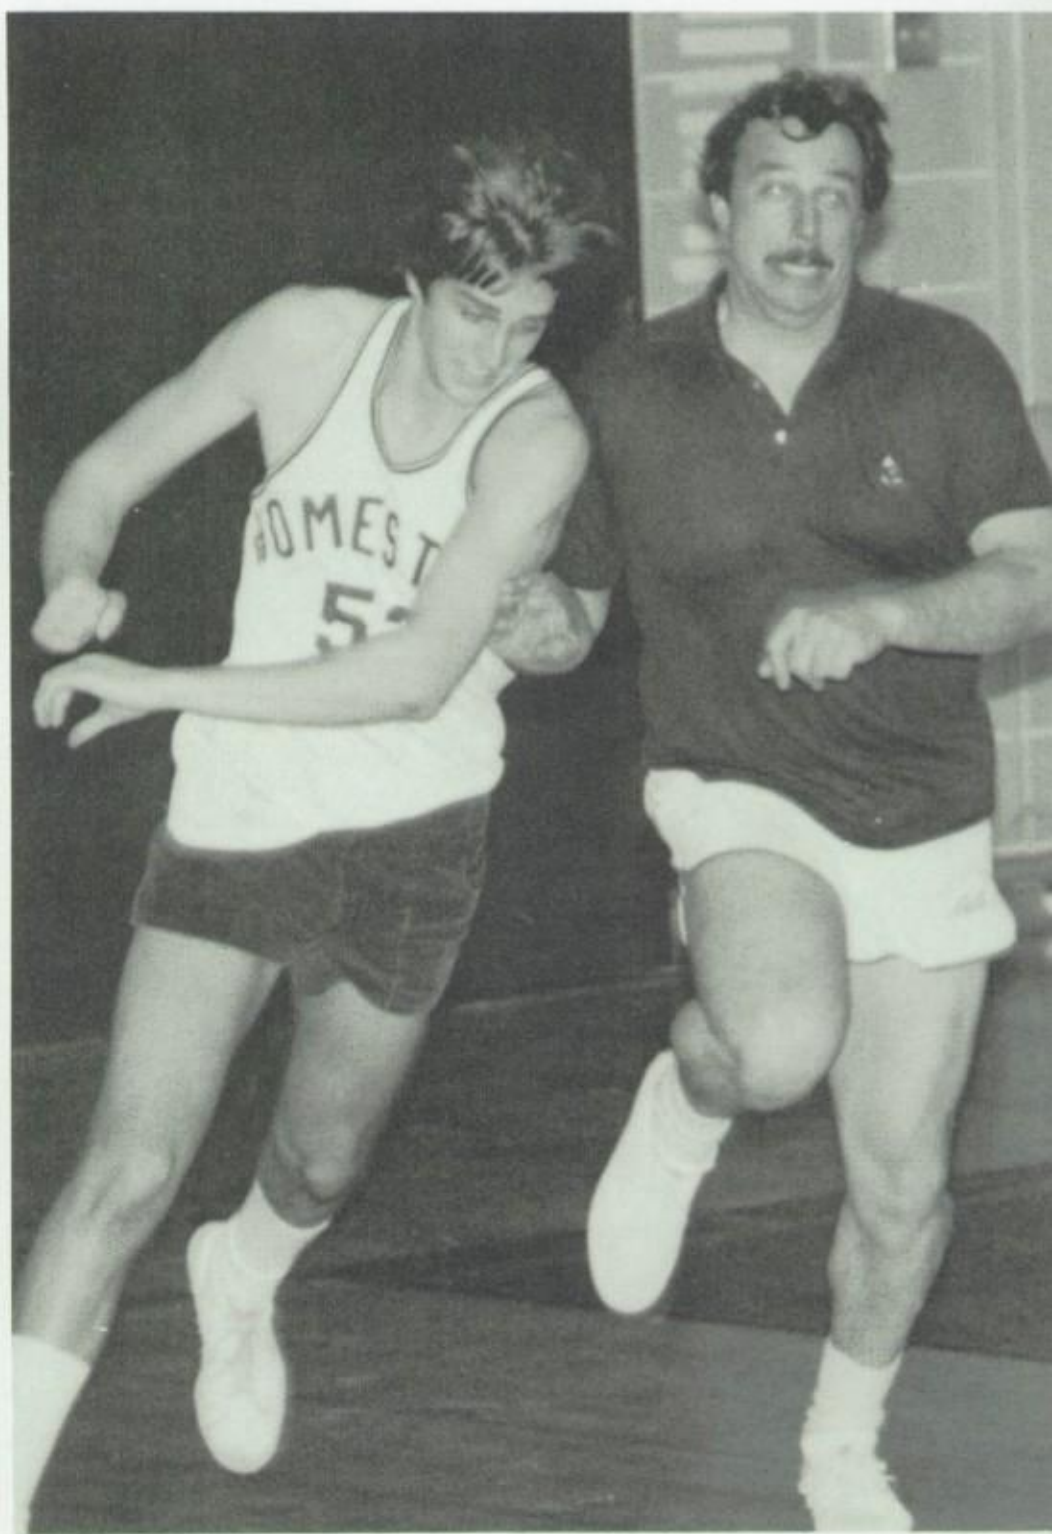

Each year, the California Scholarship Federation sponsors two blood drives, one in November and one in May. The goal for both drives was 100 units of blood — a unit is one pint. The November drive had 98 donors, and the May drive was also close to the goal. Teachers, students and relatives friends of CSF members are asked to donate.

If you are over seventeen years of age, and pass the preliminary tests, which include health information and blood iron test, you are eligible to donate blood. As a reward, each donor (and some helpers) are invited to help themselves to juice, home-made soup and cookies. All donors are also rewarded in the fact that they know they are able to help others who are not as fortunate as themselves.

TEACHER VS.

STUDENT

Not only do teachers and students interact in the classroom, they interact with each other in competition. Two events took place during the school year where teachers and students competed. The first of these took place in the fall during Field Hockey season. You guessed it — the Teacher/Student Field Hockey game. The students showed the teachers how good they were by defeating the teachers 1 to 0! Unfortunately, for the students, the teachers showed their skill in the Teacher/Student Basketball game, defeating the students by several points. At least, fun can be had even if the students don't win all the time.

SUNNYVALE RECREATION

Various activities on campus this past year have been sponsored by Sunnyvale Recreation. Two people who have put many hours into arranging, publicising and participating in events are Joe Arfin and Tracy Gelback. Joe began the year working alone, then Tracy joined him, as several events were underway.

One of the main activities that Sunnyvale Recreation planned was class competition. Every once in a while, during lunch, ASB and Sunnyvale Recreation would arrange some game for the different classes to compete in. The competitions varied, from blind volleyball to a big wheel race. Each class had an opportunity to prove how spirited they were, which resulted in lunchtime entertainment and fun for all. Aside from class competitions, Sunnyvale Recreation sponsored several other events. Ski trips to Lake Tahoe were one activity, which were always well attended and fun, even if they were only for one day. At lunchtime, in the gym, students had a chance to play intermural basketball. Teams were formed with friends providing a comfortable setting to have fun with friends.

The 1982-1983 school year was very successful for Sunnyvale Recreation. Joe Arfin and Tracy Gelback helped to plan and advise activities which a good number of people participated in. Thanks to them for helping the events in Sunnyvale Recreation go smoothly.

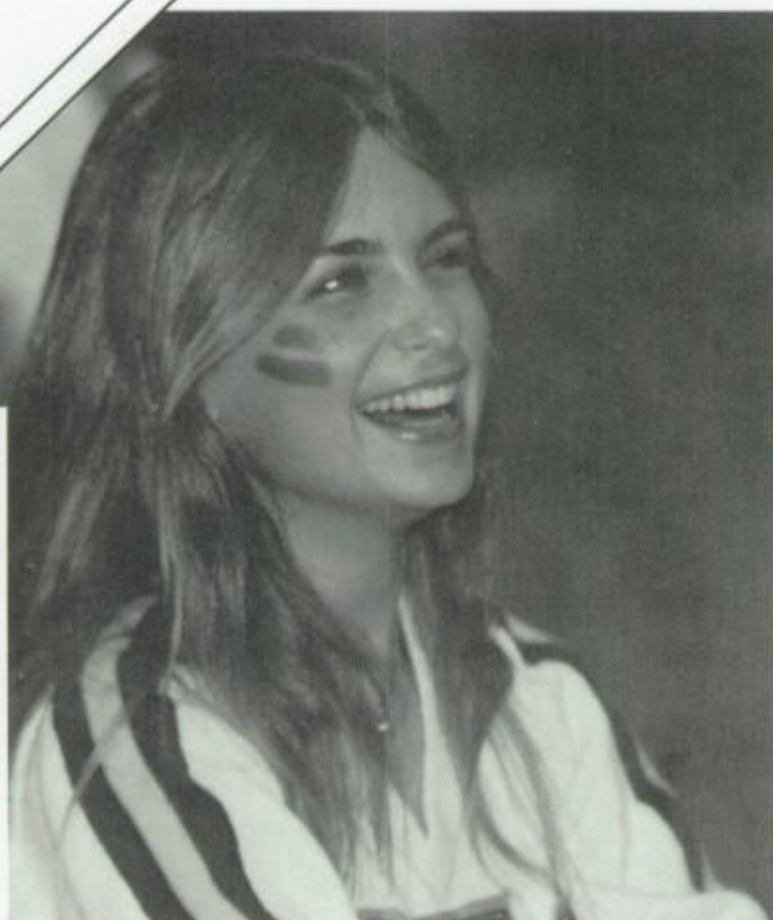

MUSTANGS

Who could forget? Remember the numerous Friday nights spent watching the Homestead football games ... the marching band's half-time entertainment ... the drill team's complicated routines? And then the late nights eating pizza with friends and enjoying each other's company. And who could forget the Sadie Hawkins dance? Wondering who to ask, or who was going to ask you? Remember Spirit Week ... a time to dress-up, act crazy, and know that nobody really cared? Remember the Christmas Ball at the Red Lion Inn, and the beautiful lights of San Jose?

And for those who spent long hours at school ... Who could forget working on "A Children's Hour" and "Guys and Dolls" ... and watching the successful productions that they became? ... And when it was all over, wishing it had just begun? And the spirit groups who spent hours practicing intricate routines for rally and half-time entertainment.

How many of us can forget the long hours spent helping in a club or group? ... talking to people on the phone, making arrangements, trying to get things settled in just the right way? Remember the numerous hours spent talking to teachers, administrators and friends? ... trying to figure out what classes to take, what college to apply to, what your plans for the week-end include, and whether or not you had homework due in your next class? Nobody will forget their high school experience, and their own contribution to it ... nobody will forget all the memories, all the good times that made high school a special experience.

IN ACTION

Under the supervision of Advisor Nick Ferentinos, the Epitaph staff had a very successful year. The best of high school journalists produced twelve outstanding issues of this fine newspaper.

Production week, the week previous to the Friday the paper was distributed, was always a crazy and hectic time, but the calm attitude of both first semester editor-in-chief Kristin Johnson and second semester editor-in-chief Ned Hall, the madness was kept under control.

Production consisted of page editors struggling to paste down and T-square pages, the copy editors fixing all the errors in the stories, and the headliners slaving away making headlines.

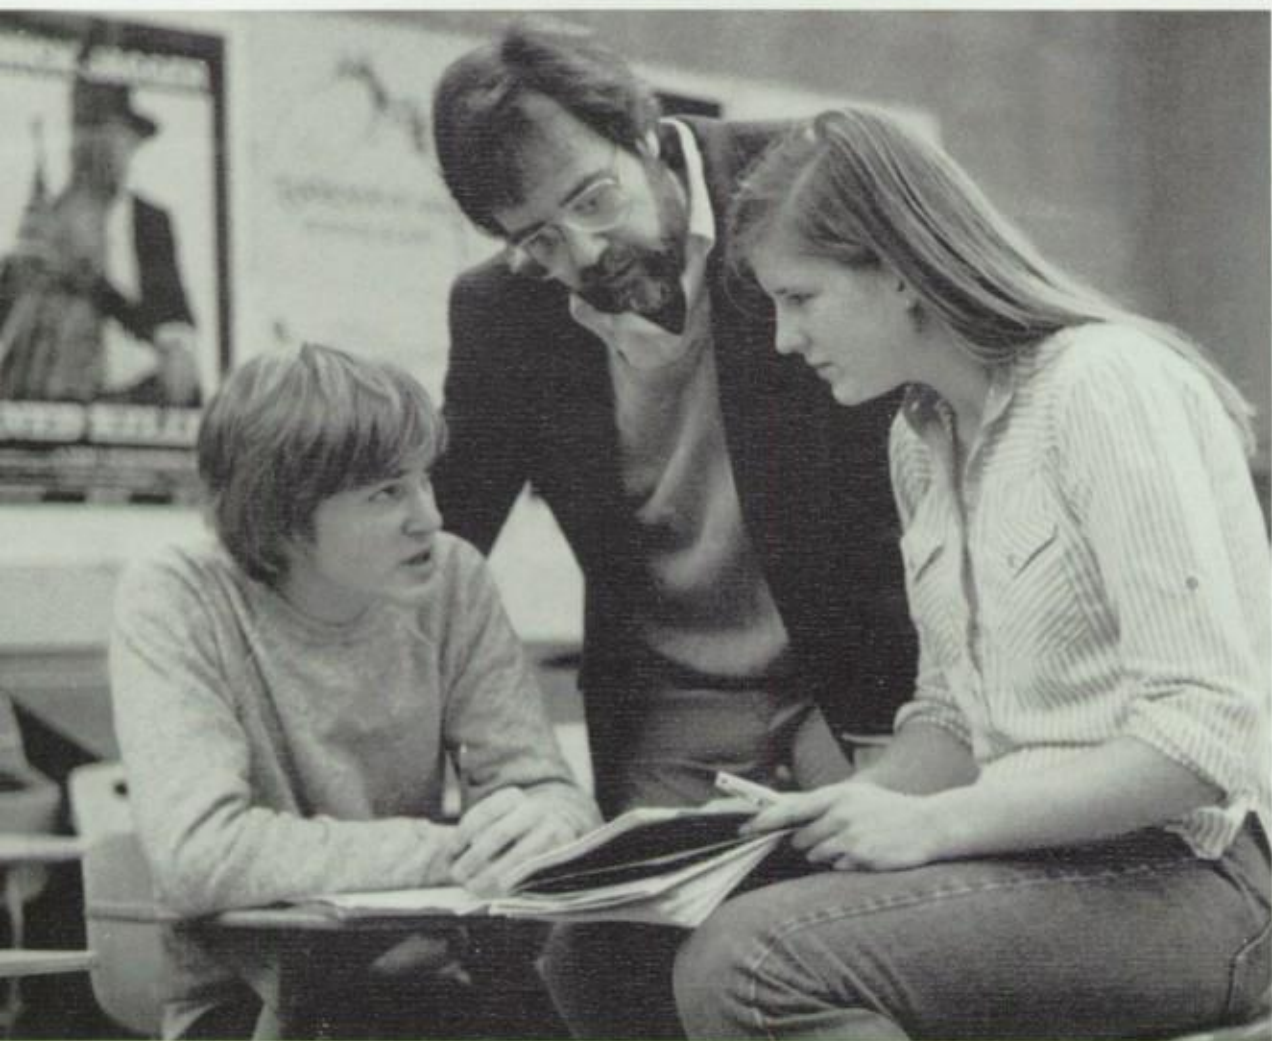

Each issue included several parts. The students of Homestead were able to catch up on school news and various activities from various articles. Outside interests, such as district decisions, and stories about specific personalities, are available for Epitaph readers to learn about. For the more humorous reader, the Epitaph averages five columns per issue.

Production of a school newspaper may be difficult, but the staff is rewarded with a fine reputation nation wide.

PEGASUS

A LETTER FROM THE EDITORS

It is unfortunate that on this spread, staff members' positions must be isolated to one category. In actuality, production of this book became a group effort with everybody working on every aspect of the book to varying degrees, from photography to typing to graphic design to food runs. We'd like to thank every member of the staff for their patience, understanding, and contributions to the creation of a book that met our highest expectations.

What were our expectations? Often yearbook staffs fall into the trap of creating a book aimed at supplying only immediate gratification for the students. In our opinion, a yearbook is most important, not now, but five years or more from now. It is a tool for remembrance, and like wine, should grow better with age. During the summer preceding production, we decided to make Pegasus '83 the most effective tool Homestead has ever seen.

Final staff members were chosen one week before school opened and our first deadline was already approaching. Some staff members will never forget: long hours in the dark-room, long hours writing copy, rising and falling inter-staff conflict, long hours the night before deadline, and long hours. With the exception of the opening, which was reserved for the editors, each section had an editor who designed, wrote copy for, and assigned photos for their pages. As for the editors, managerial duties were shared, but the nature of our characters ultimately forced us into separate directions: Gordon — photography, Richard — layouts. Of course nothing could have been accomplished without our illustrious advisor. Special thanks to Dave Setniker for his help, patience, ideas, and rotten jokes.

All in all, an exciting, tiring, learning experience for all, producing a book, good or bad, that will be remembered.

How much are the legs of this football player worth? Maybe a hundred dollars if you were to break one of them. Now, I know most of you are asking "where do I get in line?" or maybe, "A hundred bucks? Well, I'll do it for free!" I am of course talking about a strange, maybe even puerile phenomenon called the Hit List. The Hit List syndrome incorporates an offering of money by a Homestead jock to a member of another team challenging him to break a leg; so to speak. This type of behavior was most likely spurred on by an increasing rivalry between Homestead and Fremont. Nothing ever became of these actions, but I just had some free time and some space to fill.

The Varsity Mustangs took Charge in the '82 preseason. They won four out of the first five games, losing only to Mountain View High. But due to many preseason injuries, the varsity was only able to beat one regular season opponent.

In that game, Homestead trailed Lynbrook seven to nothing with only five minutes left in the fourth quarter. On the fourth down, goal to go, Fred Lewis caught the ball in the endzone for six points. A two point conversion attempt was successful giving the Mustangs the lead with a minute to go in the game. A strong defense held Lynbrook until time was called. Homestead's season ended with a respectable 5-4-3 record.

Coach Ron Pierceall is leaving after this season but sees hope in the future with returning juniors and up-coming Frosh-Soph players.

FOOTBALL

Varsity Field Hockey, fortified by chocolate, took third place in league this year. The team, composed almost entirely of seniors displayed tremendous sense of humor and durability throughout the numerous tied games. The amazing Scheel sisters, Gretchen and Kristen, were elected all-league players and amazed everyone. Many other players were voted honorable mention.

Judy Benidt and Pat (a coach we can respect) Calcany, led the team through the numerous "serious" practices. Although pulled muscles in tender places, among other injuries, plagued the team, the Flickers managed to survive the season.

CROSS COUNTRY

Homestead's X-Country team, coached by Rick Miliam and Joe Mangan did well this year with the boys and girls teams, placing 2nd and 3rd in league respectively. The boys team placed 3rd at regions, enabling them to qualify for C.C.S. The girls team placed 4th in region which did not qualify them to go to C.C.S. Dondi Hart qualified individually at region and went on to take 17th place at C.C.S. Chris Richards took a 3rd place finish at C.C.S. for boys. The team had a most memorable experience at Southern California where both boys and girls participated in the Mt. Sac invitational with the P patrol finishing 15th in their race. Only through Zamczyk's patience and understanding with Brian, was the team able to get through the trip. Members of the team who received All-League honors are: Chris Richards, Eric White and Jeff Zamczyk for boys, and Dondi Hart, Kristi Mali and Peggy Naughten for the girls. It's a running club and they know it.

Headed by All-Leaguers Walter Frey and Shannon Pekary, the Varsity Water Polo Team had an outstanding season, ranking second in the league, the best ranking for the team in eight years.

Throughout the season, the Mustangs only lost to Saratoga and defeated the once-considered indestructible Monta Vista Matadors. After the previous coach resigned in the middle of the season, Rich Donnelly came to coach the varsity poloists for the remainder of the season. Assisting him was Homestead Alumnus Martin Riley. Senior Shannon Pekary received the First Team All-League Award.

Seniors Shannon Pekary, Walter Frey and Gred Ward were members of the First All-League Team. Junior Chris Pekary earned an All-League honorable mention. Team Captain Lance Utne also received the First Team All-League Award, for the frosh-soph team.

SWIMMING

Coached by Donna Chavez, both girls' swimming teams were very successful this year. Although ranked fourth overall in the league, the Mustangs sent eight members to C.C.S. Among the C.C.S. participants were Most Valuable Player Mary Doolittle, Laurie Watanabe, Patty Kendall and Karen Conrad. Junior Varsity mustangs ranked an impressive third in the league, including a narrow victory against Saratoga.

TENNIS

Both tennis teams finished the season in the third place. The Varsity team was a strong force in the D.A.L. Finals. The team's season included a few lengthy games, with one lasting three hours and another which had to be continued the following day, both ending victoriously.

The Junior Varsity team ended with a 6-4 record. It was the only junior varsity team to send five representatives to the semi-finals.

VOLLEYBALL

The varsity Spikers, led by senior co-captains Julie Chow and Leslie Hillyer had a difficult year, losing by large margins towards the end of the season. Lack of teamwork was apparent in the final few games. "We have a lot of good players with potential; but we needed more teamwork," junior Leslie Lamson said summing up the season. Coach Tom Saunders attributes the Spikers lack of success to inexperience. The majority of the team members had a year or less of experience. New to the team this year was senior Cindy Oliver from Fremont. Oliver quickly noticed the difference in the way the team members got along. "At Fremont we didn't get along together, here everyone is friends, it makes the practices and games much better."

The J.V. team, with second year coach Claudia Gough had an abundance of returning players. The J.V. Spikers played quite a game with the Lancers of St. Francis. St. Francis won the match 2-1 but the closeness of the score pleased Homestead. Sophomore Lois Grenidge said, "our serves were really good. It was a good game overall, but we should have won."

VARSITY

BASKETBALL

The Varsity Mustangs, led by Dan Sampson and Jeff Pasco, defeated Lynbrook 48 to 47 in the last regular season game, gaining a playoff birth and a League record of 4 wins and 4 losses. Coach Judas Prada, when asked about this years team, replied, "The team had more character than any team around".

Junior Dan Sampson, who's brother Dave played Varsity basketball last year, dominated the courts this season. His point scoring average was over 20 pts. per game and scored a Peninsula high of 45 pts. against Menlo-Atherton. Dan has the talent to play in the NCAA Division I — the highest calibre of college teams, which includes Stanford, UCLA and BYU", stated Coach Prada. "He's not a self-ish player, though", said Ron LaValley, who did not play this season due to injuries. "He can carry the team when we're not playing well".

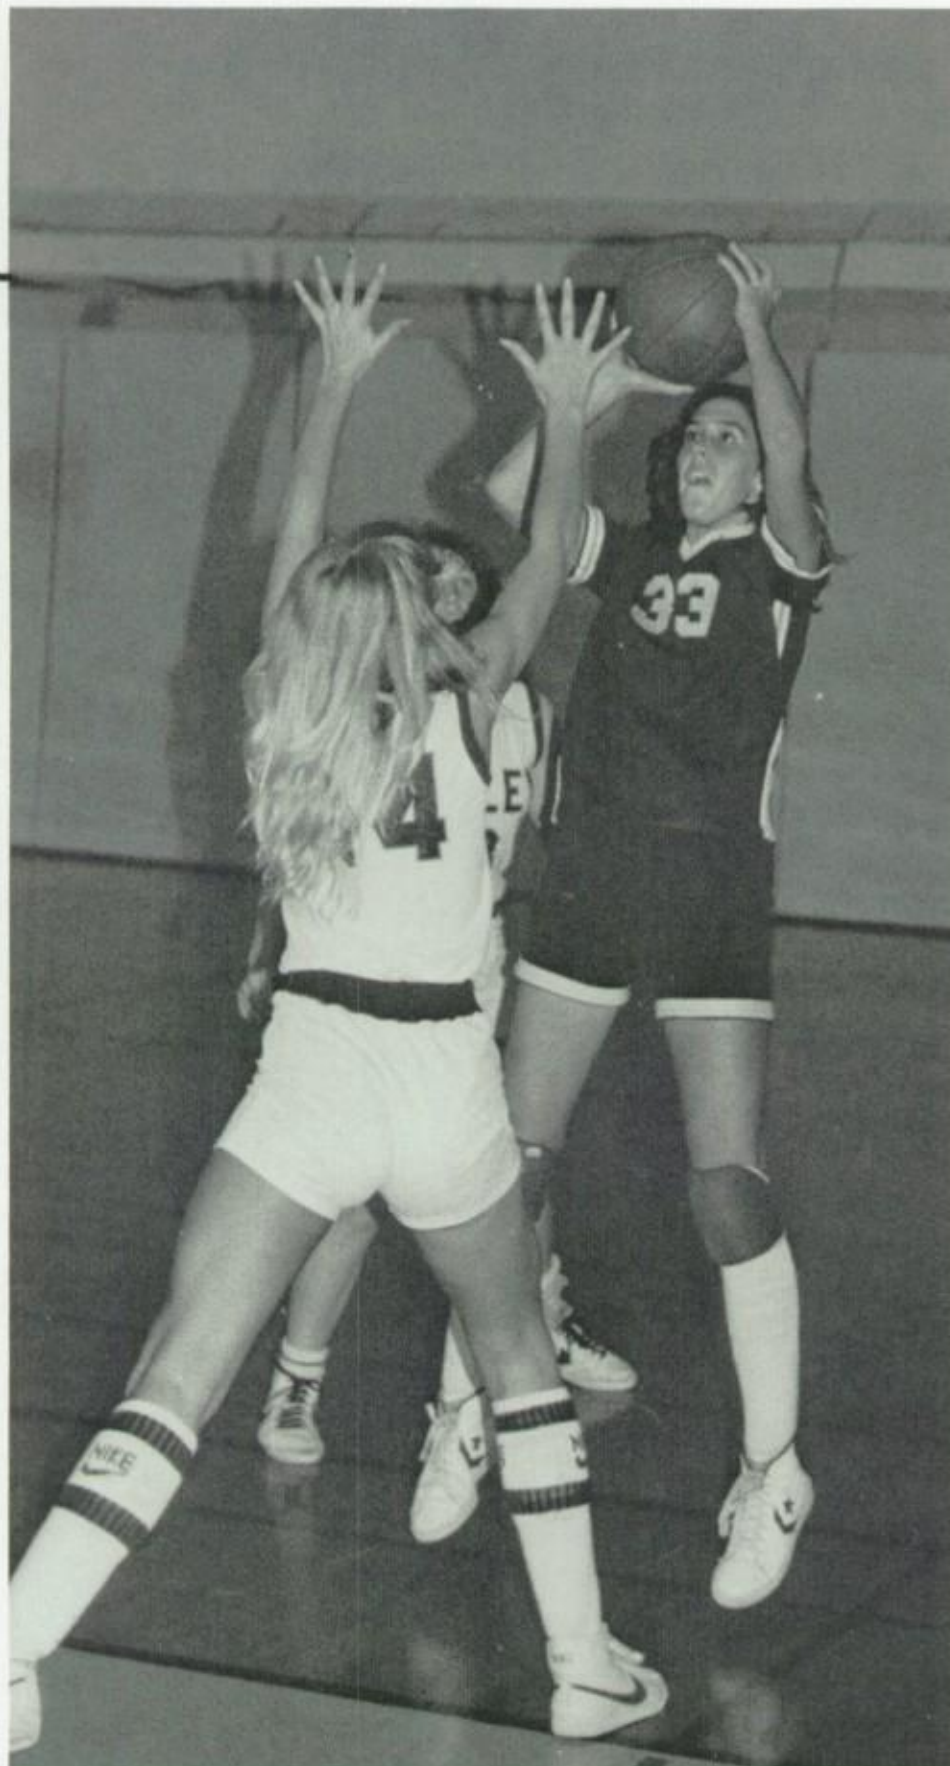

VARSITY

BALL

The Girls Varsity Basketball team, coached this year by Ernie Dossa, had eight returning girls from last year's team. Six foot Senior center, Kristin Johnson, superbly filled the shoes of Barbara Blackburn, a six foot, one inch Senior center of last season. This years team went 3-0 in pre-season games, Dossa, when asked about the season, stated, "The team was really well balanced, packed with talent, speed and experience".

The Hoopsters crushed Del Mar High School 31-19 in the season opener. Defense was the key factor in that game. The girl's regular season ended with a record of 4 wins, 4 losses; good enough for a fourth place finish. 12 Senior players including Kristin Johnson, Heidi Waterfield, Lisa Welti, Lynn Pirafalo and Gretchen Scheel will be lost at graduation, but a multitude of good Junior Varsity players will be coming up through the ranks.

Both J. V. teams had outstanding seasons. The Junior Varsity Boys led by Steve Sullens and Rob Haber ended the season 14-5 and tied for the CCS Championship. Coach Ralph Mann considers this very balanced team to be one of the best he has ever coached.

The Junior Varsity Girls have played extremely well this season. At one point in the season, the Hoopsters were an undefeated 10-0 and sat in first place. The team consisted of eight freshman and only three sophomores. However, Coach Shimoguchi doubts that many will continue to play J.V. next year. "Most of the players will play Varsity next season because they're losing 12 after this season," she exclaimed. Shimoguchi characterized the team as one that excelled late in the game. "They use the first quarter to warm up, but come back in the second half."

SOCCER

After a short mid-season slump, the Boy's Varsity soccer team regained momentum and with only two games left in the season, they were tied for second place with Lynbrook and Saratoga with a record of 4-2-2. In an impressive victory over Fremont, Homestead controlled play throughout the game. Junior Jeff Reisdorf scored the only first-half goal, bunting a cornerkick ball into the net with his thigh. Mike Abe scored 1 in the second half and had an important assist when Reisdorf scored again. The final score was 4 to 1. Senior players lost to graduation are Greg Bertuccio, Alan Rotbert, Bruce Kelson, Mark Shuken, Mike Abe, Kraig Abe, Dong Cho, Ross Adams, and Scott Yen.

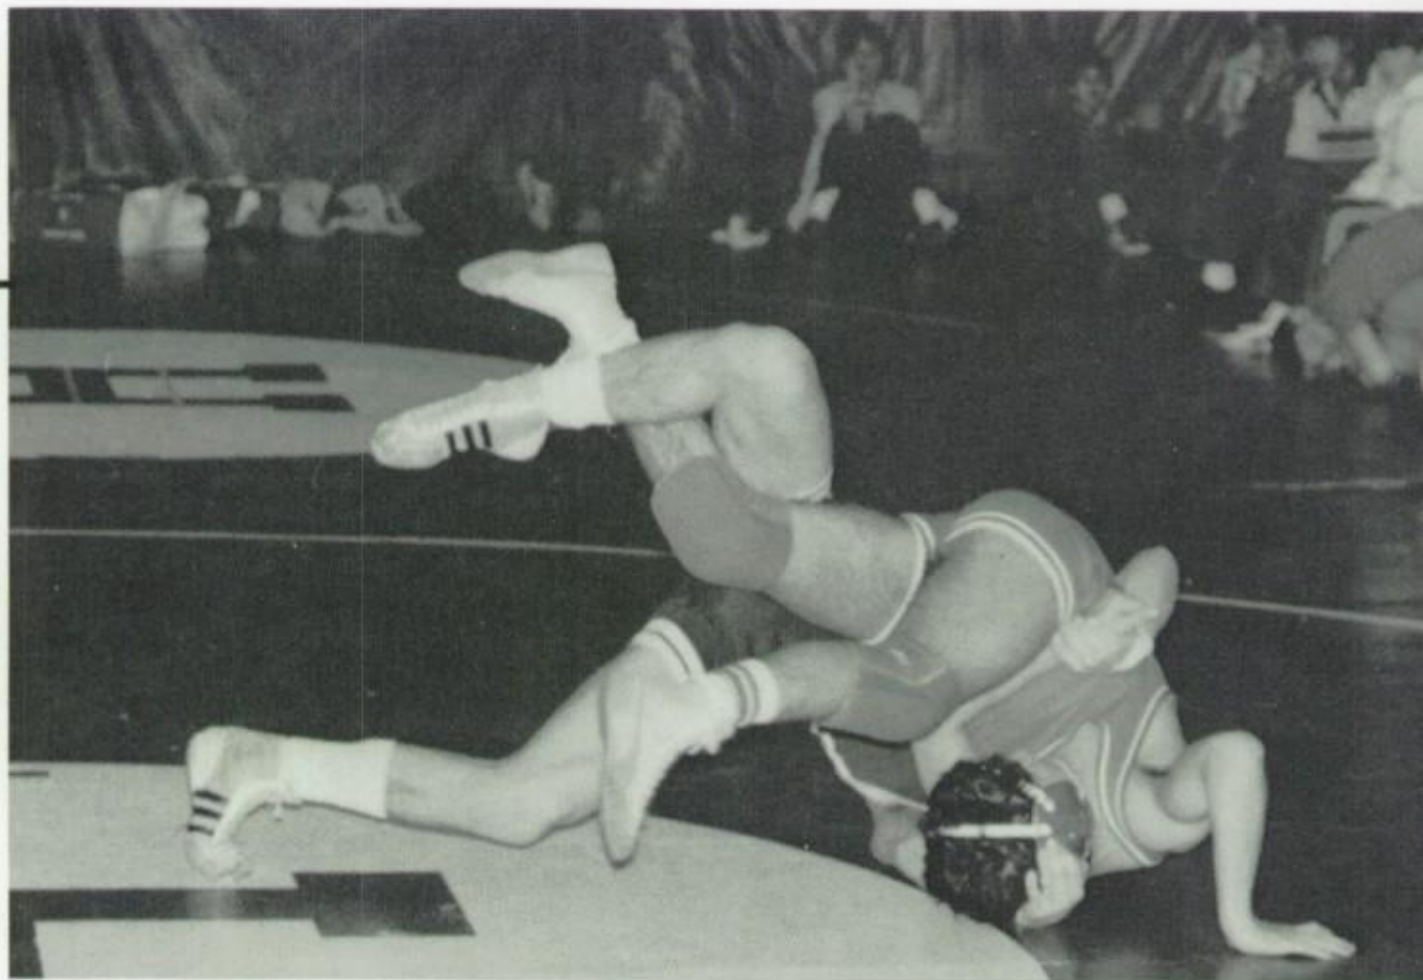

The J.V. team stood in third place after their season with a record of 3-4-1 in league play. Sophomore Kurt Hyatt was the team's leading scorer and shot two goals against Fremont to lead to their victory 4-1. Coach Robert Babel attributes this season's success to certain key players, including sophomores Gerry Henne and Mike Hiddleston.

WRESTLING

After 4 months of rigorous work, the Varsity wrestling team placed 4th in league. Although Varsity Coach Rene Retuta was pleased with his wrestlers, he sees future champions in the J.V. wrestlers. Varsity team captain Randy Rowe agreed, saying, "Many young wrestlers gained a lot of valuable experience and should do well next year."

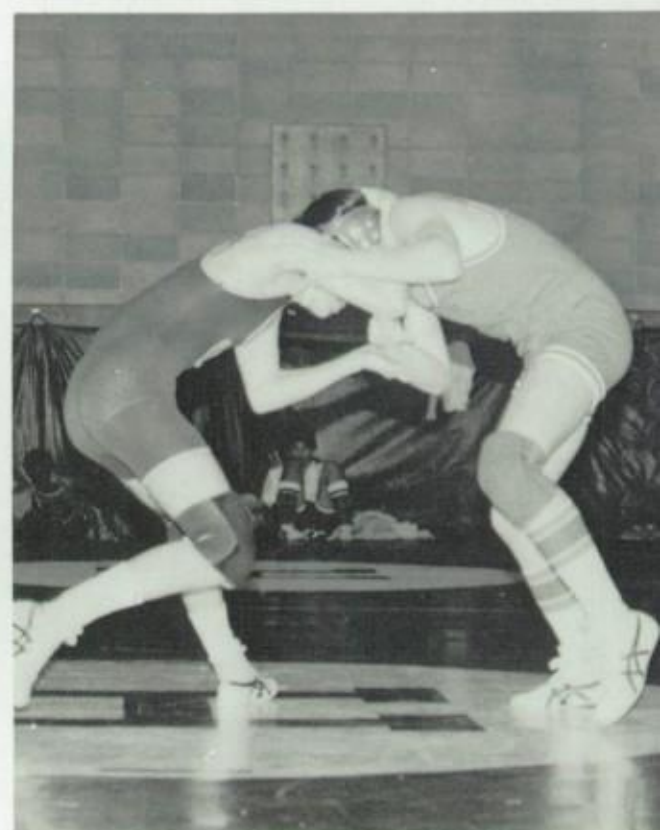

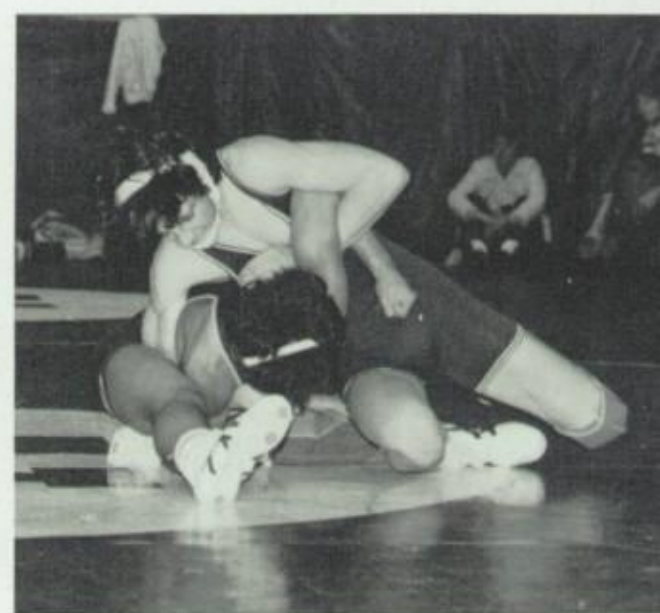

Eight Homestead wrestler's qualified for CCS at the league finals. Placing 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th at league finals were Seniors Mark Marcellini and Eric Vogt; Junior Jim Moughan, Rowe and Sophomore Frank Smith; Senior Tim Ward; and Seniors Mike Dell and Steve Caroompas, respectively.

With the letup of the rain, the girl's soccer teams finally ended their season. Varsity took 4th place with a record of 7-5. The J.V. team took 2nd with an overall record of 8-3-2.

Varsity finished league play with a final game against Saratoga. The Falcons of Saratoga were victorious on their home turf with a final score of 3-1. The Mustangs led the game at the half with a 1-0 score by Senior Chris Pitsch. "We had a good 1st half," Coach Cam Binford said. "It was the first time Saratoga's been down after the half." Despite the season ending on a sour note, Binford feels optimistic about next years team.

BADMINTON

At the time of this writing, the Badminton team had yet to begin its season. Potential stand-outs on this years teams include Seniors Tom Goff, John Oblanas and No-reen Morioka and Sophomore Julie Mathias.

According to Varsity Coach Barbara Norton, the Badminton program is gradually expanding in all areas. "This is the first year that the boy's teams are allowed to compete in CCS. It used to only be open to girls", said Norton. "We had a really great turnout of kids this year and I hope that I can encourage the exceptional athletes to stay with the sport", Norton said.

BASEBALL

As the Pegasus goes to press, the Varsity Baseball team had just begun their 1983 season. The Mustang's strong win over Saratoga may be an indication that the team has a good chance of upholding its strong winning tradition. All current starters, including the pitching staff were Seniors, with the exception of second baseman Chris Vodanovich. Coach Flanagan is counting on strong hitting from Jeff Sisk, Rodney Martin and Kevin McCarroll.

A long and rainy winter caused delays in Spring season sports this year. Many pre-season games were cancelled and league games had to be re-scheduled due to rainfall. The J.V. baseball team was no exception. At press time, the J.V. sluggers had just beaten the Saratoga squad 6-1. Strong hitting by the Mustangs accounted for 5 of their 6 runs in the first inning. If this game was to be an indication of what was to come, the Mustangs were on their way to a great season. Coach Bernie Moncallo expected strong hitting from Mike Fischer, Marc Serrano and Mike Birkes.

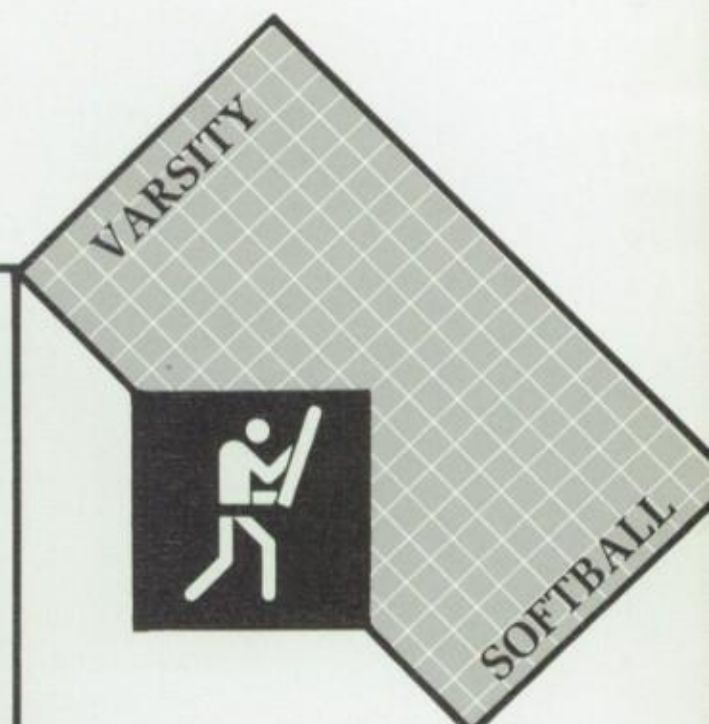

Top Row (l-r): Coach Mace, M. Fisher, P. Marcy, D. Fortunato, M. Hiddleson, J. Williams, R. Haber, J. Light, T. Reese, P. Machle, G. Burton, S. Lambert, T. Kuykendall, S. Erickson, C. With the large turnout of young talent and a fair number of returning players, the girls' Varsity Softball team started practicing early in February under the command of first-year coach Donna Chavez. Together with J.V. Coach Joanne Shimoguchi, Chavez conducted an all-player tryout, giving everyone, including the many Freshmen and Sophomores, an equal shot of making the Varsity team.

Standouts among the younger players are Freshman Pat Porter and Heather Anderson. Others showing great potential were Senior Denise Wellmaker, Juniors Stacey Nester and Trish Cuddy, and Sophomore Mary Beth Bray.

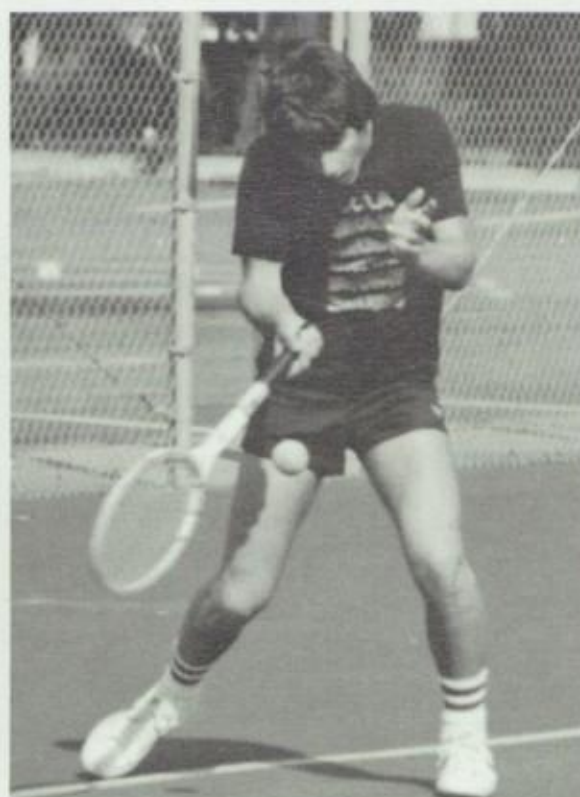

As the Pegasus goes to press, the J.V. softball team is undefeated. Their wins include a 29-2 romp over Fremont, a 29-3 trounce of Cupertino, and a mild 16-3 win over Saratoga.

Pitchers Dana Larson and Pat Porter have allowed only 14 runs in 4 games and averaged 7 strikeouts a game. Coach Joanne Shimo-guchi admitted that their opponents were somewhat poor, but she takes nothing away from her team's talent.

In a game against Fremont, the Indian Pitchers walked Homestead's batters 25 times, but the Mustang bats played an important role as well. Season highlights included grand slam homeruns by Junior Michelle Bourne & Ann Meltzer.

TENNIS

As the Pegasus goes to press, the Varsity boys' tennis team was tied for second place with Monta Vista with a season record of 7-2. Meanwhile, the JV team prospers with a 9-0 record, surpassing every team in the DAL.

Victories over Lynbrook and Cupertino boosted the varsity team record and improved their attitude. "Earlier in the season, we were lacking organization; but now we have come together and performed to our potential," said Senior Craig Corfield before DAL finals.

James Ushiba and Mike Rintala lead the JV team by maintaining their undefeated record.

SWIMMING

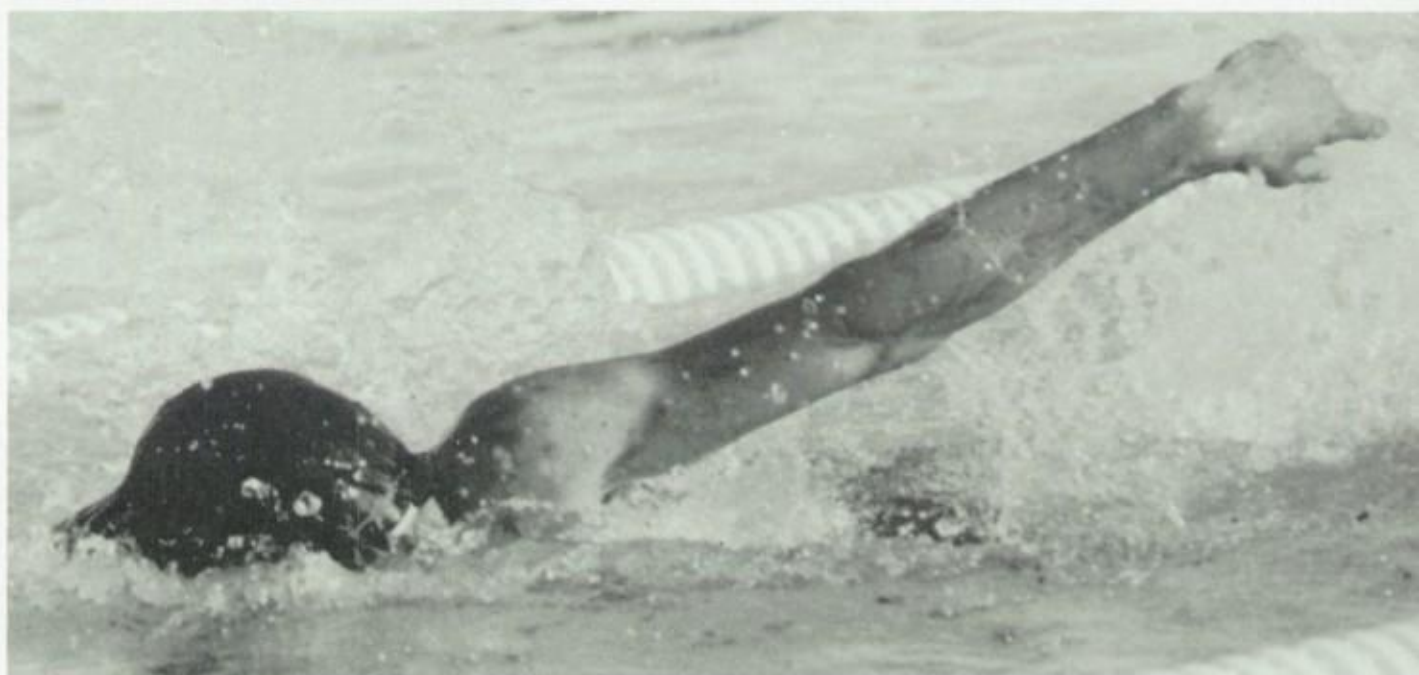

As the Pegasus went to press, the boy's varsity swim team struggled through the season with only one victory — over Fremont. Coach Bruce Gordon said that DAL finals still look promising. Despite the defeat to Lynbrook, many Mustangs managed to prosper. Junior Chris Pekary clipped 5 seconds from his time in the 200 yard freestyle, and star backstroker Stuart Jackson placed 1st in the 100 yard backstroke. Senior Walter Frey continues to show strong leadership and will be a key swimmer at the DAL finals.

The J.V. team was extremely strong this year and the 5 Freshmen who make up the group will be exceptional swimmers on the Varsity team next year.

VARSITY TRACK & FIELD

The Pegasus wishes to express its gratitude to the sports writers of the Epitaph. The written material in this section, in whole or in part, appeared originally in The Epitaph.

TRACK &

FIELD

Due to extended rainfall lingering into the Spring season, the track and field team had a late start in preparing for their rigorous scheduled meets. The team lost 2 in a row against Saratoga and St. Francis but won big over Cupertino at home. Freshman Dan Ackerman had an outstanding season, winning the long jump, triple jump and high jump against Saratoga with distances of 18-5, 39-1 and 5-10 respectively. Also in that meet, the 440 relay team of Senior Betsy Upton, Freshman Lisa Bishop, and Sophomores Tanya Turpijn and Katrice Watterson, placed first with a time of 54.2 seconds.

Outstanding performances were turned in by long distance runners Matt Nagarian, Eric White, Jeff Zamczyk and Joe Sayles.

Clubs

SKI CLUB

Formed in 1981, the Ski Club and advisor Mr. Langford feel that their purpose is to promote the sport of skiing among Homestead students. Club membership increased dramatically for the 1982-83 ski season. Weekend ski trips and ski movies were among the activities planned for the year.

FRENCH CLUB

FRENCH CLUB OFFICERS: My-Hanh Han, Secretary; Laura Downs, Vice President, and Stephan Kertesz, Treasurer. Not pictured Sharon Amacher, President.

The "Cercle Francois" Club was renewed by Mrs. Flaming. The activities the French Club planned for the year were an International Pot Luck Dinner, a dinner at a French Restaurant with parents tasting French food cooked by club members, and a progressive dinner with a French Club from other schools in this area.

The club was also going to try and have enough money left in their treasury to give a couple of scholarships for graduating seniors who are planning to continue their study of the French Language.

ALTENIANS

At an Althenian meeting, Britta Puschendorf gives her ideas and support for new and interesting ideas and comments.

Mrs. Frey was this year's Althenian advisor. Part of the activities for this all girl service club was to tend the Ito Garden and have senior citizen's dinners. The members of this club are very proud of their ability to combine school functions and outside activities to help better their environment.

Three extremely active members are Siu-Yin Ko, Kristen Callahar and Britta Puschendorf who "runs the whole show", she is a great organizer.

INTERACT

OCTAGON

The Octagon club, now in its second year, is a youth-service club dedicated to serving the community in any way possible. Sponsored by the De Anza-Vallco Optimists, their programs include fundraising for a children's shelter and help for the elderly. Also, a special thanks to this club for printing the tables in the quad.

The stated purpose of the Interact Club is provide services for the school and the community. Including helping the poor at Thanksgiving and Christmas carolling and bell ringing for the Salvation Army. The club also formed a litter patrol to help combat the litter problem at Homestead. The club's co-presidents are Lisa Welti and Gretchen Scheel. Together they work closely with the Sunnyvale Rotary Club. Club members feel that more young fortunate people should become involved in helping those not so fortunate. Mrs. Aliamo was the new advisor for the Interact Club.

S.V. REC.

The school year started out well for Sunnyvale Recreation Leader, Joe Arfin. He planned many events including a viewing of the movie Tommy by the Who, a bowling league at Homestead Lanes, a ski demonstration and a golf tournament. He also had class competitions consisting of blind volleyball, canoe races and a basketball league for wintertime activities.

Joe, who graduated in 1982 from San Diego State looks and is just a few years older than the students. He gets along well with both Homestead faculty and the students.

From Dodge Ridge, Joe Mohana demonstrates some exercises used to warm up and get in shape for the skiing season.

R.P.G. CLUB

Kevin Cunningham and Jay Gonzales stare at the photographer while Jeff Wilcox absorbs Traveller upside down.

The Role Playing Gamers Club was formed in the fall of 1982. It is made up of a variety of people. Ignatus Umlat is an extremely active member. He is a good referee and excels at all sorts of four dimensional Silicon Valley based games.

Some of the games played are Dungeons and Dragons, Top Secret, and Traveller. Pat Farley put the club and the games into a very positive note when he told the Epitaph, "it's mentally healthy . . . you have to think . . .". Mrs. Smith was the advisor for the 1982-83 Role Playing Gamers Club!

S.S.R.

Students for Social Responsibility was a club founded just this year. The club's major goal is to get students more involved with today's political and social issues. The club hopes to become an outlet for all students to express their political and social opinions. They hope this year to produce a political journal periodically and have special "days"; Reaganomic, Solidarity, Ground Zero, and more. No one person has any more authority or influence in S.S.R.. Members feel strongly about the fact that each has something they can contribute; their opinion.

CHESS CLUB

The advisor for the 1982-83 chess playing season was Mrs. Hughes. Mrs. Hughes' expectation for the school year was to "win 'em all". Coach Chuck Masterson stated the purpose of the club as having the best chess team in the state of California. This year's chess captains were Doug D'Angelo and Kelvin Ba.

Chess is a historic game without the dice. It teaches the players to think twice before he or she makes a move. It also teaches strategy and defence tactics. The players show their determination to become number one by practising three days a week after school.

A small group of Chess Club members practicing their strategies.

ART CLUB

The Art Club, formed in 1965 at Homestead feels its purpose at Homestead High School is to make students more aware of the art around them and of art in general. Mrs. Niva, the Art Club advisor, has again planned the Christmas Show and Sale, and an Easter Show and Sale. The club would have liked to have gotten funds to make another mural to decorate the school.

Three of this year's active members are Chris Putland, Kathy Berntsen and Shannon Perryman.

Mrs. Niva gives the photographer an unappealing smile as Shannon Perryman and Kathy Berntsen ask for answers for the yearbook questionnaire.

MATH CLUB

The Homestead Math Club was also formed in 1965. Club members feel its their purpose at Homestead High School to foster an interest in mathematics and creative problem-solving. The annual Junior High Math Contest, tours and lectures are just a small portion of the activities the Math Club planned for the 1982-83 school year. Two quotes the club uses are, "Be cubic and join" and "We're not squares we're radical". Mr. Tripodi and Mr. Stocking were again the advisors of Homestead's Math Club.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS: Stephen Kertesz, Secretary; Larry Kwan, Treasurer; Cynthia Dai, Vice President; and Dave Daetz, President.

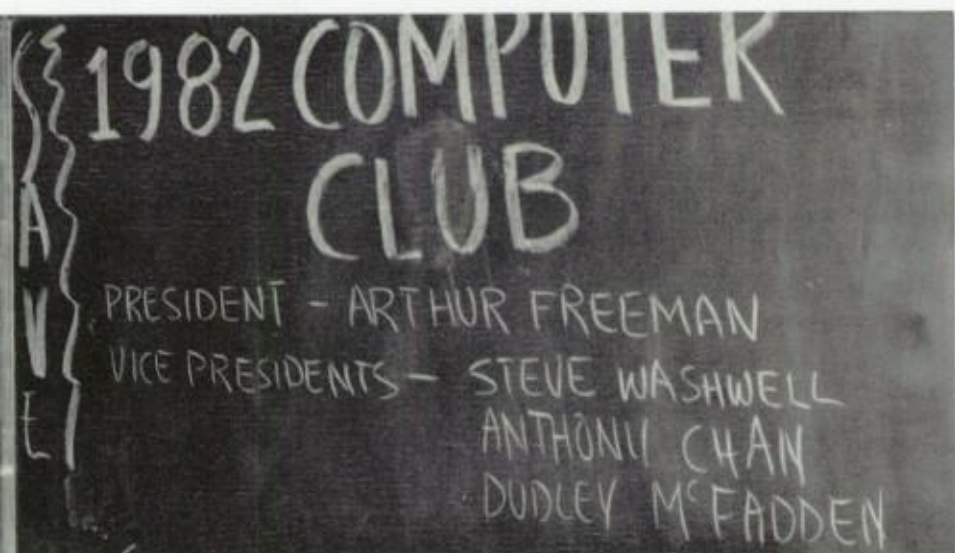

COMPUTER CLUB

Homestead's Computer Club was formed in 1971. It exists only to provide computer experience for Homestead students. Since 1971, Homestead's Computer Club has been collecting donations for equipment from companies and having numerous fundraisers. Hawlett Packard has donated the greatest number of pieces of equipment and set up a lab for student use. The new lab consists of 15 Apple Computers connected to a corvus disk drive.

The club's plan for 1982-83 was a large order. Members participated in the American Computer Science League's Contest, took various field trips, participated in fundraisers and had speakers attend the school to give lectures. One of advisor Steve Headley's expectations for the year was to provide support for a lab used for educational purposes.

Mr. Headley taught three Computer classes this past year, and Accounting classes were also using the Apple Lab. The Homestead Faculty were given floppy disks to use in the lab and Administrative Secretaries were also using the Apple Lab.

N.H.S.

The National Honor Soceity was advised by Mr. Neff this year. N.H.S. is a service club made up of above average grade students. Among the activities the club did this year are a food drive at Christmas collecting canned goods for the needy, tutoring, and tending the Ito Garden.

N.H.S. OFFICERS: Dave Bernstein, Treasurer; Scott Yen, President; and Athar Siddiqee, Vice-President.

C.S.F.

The California Scholarship Federation stimulates interest and fosters pride in high standards of scholarship encouraging further education for highly qualified young people. Blood drives, holiday parties at rest homes and revived activity of tutoring students at Homestead are just a few of the activities C.S.F. did this year.

C.S.F. OFFICERS: Alison Inafuku, Vice-President; Athar Siddiqee, Secretary; Elizabeth Ragsdale, President; Dave Daetz, Treasurer.

F.B.L.A.

Future Business Leaders of America is a national organization whose goal is to help students learn about the functions of business. The goal is attained through participation in competitions and conferences by members covering all areas of business and club service to the school and the community. Homestead's chapter, with advisors Mrs. Dennin and Mrs. Blaski planned many activities for the school year. Christmas time Holiday Messages were sent in December and in April members planned to attend one of many competitions in Anaheim, California. Officers are Lisa Dreike, President; Andrea Wong, Vice President; Janie Fong, Treasurer; Nancy Yasuda, Secretary; and Cynthia Dai, Recorder — Historian.

N.F.L.

N.F.L. members boast about past winnings.

Mrs. Blaski and Mrs. Dennin look with interest at a student as club President Lisa Dreike stares straight ahead.

The National Forensic League and advisor Miss Weber had a busy year. They took ten people to an invitational Tournament at the University of Pacific in Stockton and went to an Invitational in Berkely. The purpose of this club is to participate in speech and debate tournaments.
